LITTLE MISS MUFFET
SITS ON A TUMFET...
AND SAYS "I WANT NO WHEY!"
I'VE GOT MY TUMS!
IF SOUR STOMACH COMES...
I'LL EAT MY FILL, TODAY!

"YOU NEVER KNOW WHEN" SO... CARRY... TUMS

PEOPLE everywhere are surprised their friends by eating foods they have long avoided by carrying a roll of Tums right in their pocket. Millions have learned this quick, safe way to eliminate heartburn, sour stomach, gas, acid indigestion in the pleasant way. Tums represent a real scientific advancement. They contain no harsh alkalies. Instead a remarkable antacid that never does more than neutralize stomach acid. No danger of over-alkalizing the stomach or blood. The custom of carrying a roll of Tums in your pocket will save many a day for you. They're so economical—only 10c a roll—ask any druggist.

2 WOMEN JOB SEEKERS STRIPPED BY PICKETS

Police Take Memphis Girls Home After Striker Receives Black Eye.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 14.—(P)—An injunction limiting the number of pickets was issued this afternoon after two young women job seekers were stripped to the waist and the dress of another was torn from her shoulders by striking girl cosmetics workers who blocked the employees' entrance of Plough, Inc., today.

The injunction was issued by Chancellor Louis Bejach upon application of Abe Plough, president of the company.

It followed a morning of disorder during which dozens of girls who answered a company advertisement for new workers were prevented from entering the plant.

The situation quieted down later after the three girls who were attacked were escorted home in automobiles by the police. One of the strikers received a black eye at the hands of a girl seeking employment, and Miss Helen Murray, president of the Cosmetic Manufacturing Employees' Union, said one woman tried to attack her with a pocket knife.

The union is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and union men strengthened the picket line.

The 75 or more strikers walked out last Wednesday after demanding a minimum $13 pay for a 40-hour week. The injunction limits the number of pickets to eight at the main plant and five at a laboratory of the company.

Third Burgess Holds Job

BEN B. BURGESS.

BURGESS IS CLERK
Family Line Unbroken in DeKalb Court Post.

An unbroken line of Burgess in the office of clerk of the DeKalb superior court and the city court of Decatur was continued yesterday with the appointment of Ben B. Burgess to succeed his late uncle, Ben F. Burgess, who died last week.

Since 1885 a Burgess has been court clerk of DeKalb county. Henry H. Burgess was the first and was succeeded by his son, "Uncle Ben," in 1903.

Young Ben has been deputy clerk in the office since 1926, when he was graduated at the Atlanta Law School. His appointment to the clerkship was announced yesterday by Judge V. S. Morgan, DeKalb county ordinary.

The new clerk has announced he will run for the office in the special election which will be held within 30 days.

Roy J. Freeman, DeKalb county resident, last night announced his candidacy for clerk of DeKalb superior court. The office was made vacant last week by the death of Ben Burgess, of Decatur, who was clerk of the court for nearly 33 years.

Mr. Freeman has previously served in the capacity, having been clerk of the court in 1904-1906, when the office carried a two-year term. The clerk now holds office for four years and one year still remains of Mr. Burgess' term. Mr. Freeman also served as county commissioner from 1907 to 1919.

PASTOR IS HELD
Minister Charged With Holding Girl in Lap.

CHESTER, Pa., Oct. 14.—(P)—Magistrate J. Albert Northam held the Rev. Edward R. Rein, pastor of Wallingford Presbyterian church, in $500 bail for the grand jury today after hearing a complaint that a young woman of the congregations sat on his lap in the church.

"This case is too complicated for me," Magistrate Northam said after hearing arguments by opposing attorneys.

A. B. Geary, Chester attorney, swore out a warrant for Rein under an old English common law, alleging the minister sat in the basement of the church, with the young parishioner on his lap, after a Christian Endeavor meeting several months ago.

Morton Z. Paul, of Philadelphia, counsel for Rein, declared his client "is being persecuted."

PEACE IN CHURCHES SOUGHT BY NAZIS

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—(P)—Hans Kerl, head of the Nazi department of church affairs, announced the formation today of an eight-man church committee to effect "real peace in Germany's religious life."

Protestant opposition leaders described the committee members as "mostly men who are neither hot nor cold, neither 100 per cent German Christian nor 100 per cent members of the opposition confessional synod, but men whose purpose it is to create a split in the confessional synod by trying to win over the more moderate pastors."

KIDNAP SCARE STARTS HUNT FOR AL KARPIS

MIAMI, Okla., Oct. 14.—(P)—Officers of two states were searching this district tonight for Alvin Karpis, "Public Enemy No. 1," charging him with a possible kidnap attempt.

Sheriff Eli Dry said a heavily bearded man who appeared at a grammar school twice and asked for the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoffman, wealthy Miamians, closely fits the description of the fugitive outlaw.

DEPOSITS BY SHUSHAN ARE TRACED TO BANKS

Slips Aggregating $231,427 Are Made Part of Record Against Louisianan.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 14.—(P)—Half of the alleged $448,000 gross income which the government charges Abraham L. Shushan, prominent New Orleans merchant and state political leader, failed to report in his income returns for 1929-1933, inclusive, was laid by the government today to deposits assertedly made by the defendant in four New Orleans and one New York bank.

Today's session brought forth the prosecution's first attempt to trace Shushan's alleged unreported income since the trial opened a week ago in federal district court before Judge William H. Barrett, of Augusta, Ga.

The government's testimony last week was directed in an effort to establish its contention that the defendant received large rebates which he failed to report from dredging contracts performed by the Standard Dredging Company of New York for the Orleans levee board, which Shushan heads.

Deposit slips aggregating $231,427.22, spread over the first four of the five years named in the indictment, were made in part of the already voluminous record which to date consists of more than 200 government exhibits.

The deposit slips were those of Shushan, his wife and Shushan Brothers & Co., Inc., New Orleans notions firm, of which he is president. Included in the aggregate were $14,000 work of cashier's checks issued to three reputed New Orleans gamblers and indorsed over to Shushan. The checks, 23 in number, were issued in $500 and $1,000 denominations and were shown cashed by the defendant at New Orleans banks, homestead associations and hotels.

The government placed its accusing finger on the bank deposits through five witnesses, all officials of New York and New Orleans banking institutions.

TEN MILLION ADDED FOR MELLON GALLERY
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—(P)—The filing today of a deed disclosed Andrew W. Mellon has given over $10,000,000 more for construction of a proposed art gallery at the national capital.

The Mellon public educational and charitable trust already has in its keeping for such a gallery pictures that cost the banker more than $25,000,000.

UTAH BUTCHER HELD IN SLAYING OF THREE

"I Don't Remember," He Tells Officers in Salt Lake City Tragedy.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 14.—(P)—A sandy-haired butcher, George L. Rutledge, gazed steadily tonight through heavily lidded eyes at officers accusing him of killing a widow he attempted to "date" and a farm couple who saw her brutally slain.

"I don't remember," the 31-year-old suspect replied repeatedly to questions regarding the triple slayings near East Bountiful, Utah, eight miles north of here last night, and the wounding of two bystanders during a wild motor car flight.

Police Chief William L. Payne announced he had an "air tight case."

He asserted that bullets found in the bodies of the widow, Mrs. Blanche Nelson, 48; the farmer, John Loren East, 42, and his wife, Mrs. Alice A. East, 38, were fired from a pistol taken from Rutledge after he staggered out of a resort near here into the hands of arresting officers.

"He admitted everything except the actual slaying," said Chief Payne. At Farmington, Sheriff Joseph Holbrook said a first-degree murder charge would be filed "as soon as County Attorney Orlando Bowman can draw it up."

The slayings became known when the body of Mrs. Nelson, mother of three children, was found near a roadside, shot and beaten.

Near by, fallen from a motor car was the body of Mrs. East, and East's own body, likewise bullet-riddled, was in a field. The Easts were parents of two children.

Memphis Slayings Gain.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 14.—(P)—Memphis homicide total for 1935 reached 87 today with the slaying of three negroes over the week-end. Ten more homicides have occurred this year than were reported for the same period of 1934.

GRAY HAIR
The Best Remedy is Made at Home
YOU can now make at home a better gray hair remedy than you can buy, by following this simple recipe: To half pint of water add one ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it yourself at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. Barbo imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair, makes it soft and glossy and takes years off your looks. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. Do not be handicapped by gray hair when it is so economical and easy to get rid of it in your own home.

Rupture Disappears As If By Magic

Doctor's New Discovery Wins Applause of Thousands

Kansas City, Mo.—A doctor of this city, has discovered a newer rupture method that is so successful hundreds have thrown their trusses away—reporting all signs of rupture gone. This method does away with leg straps, elastic belts, binding springs and harsh pads. Every week more and more letters are received from users telling how they now go without any support. All who are ruptured should investigate this discovery at once. Mr. E. O. Koch offers to send the doctor's inexpensive method to any rupture sufferer for 30 days' use and make no charge if you are not pleased in that time. If you are ruptured be sure to write Mr. E. O. Koch, 1224 Koch Bldg., 2906 Main St., Kansas City, Mo., tonight for his trial offer.—(adv.)

PANAMA GOVERNOR DINES WITH F. D. R.

President's Homeward-Bound Ship Anchors Within Sight of Balboa.

PERLAS ISLANDS, Oct. 14.—(P)—President Roosevelt resumed personal contact with the United States today, receiving at lunch Colonel Julian Schley, governor of the Panama canal. The U. S. S. Houston anchored this morning on the eastern fringe of the Perlas islands within sight of Balboa and during the clear afternoon the President also received his first bundle of mail brought by the destroyer Manley which intercepted the S. S. Santa Elena. Planes from the Houston and the Portland maneuvered in the sky during the afternoon. The President expects to remain in this vicinity for several days before making an inspection of the Panama canal en route home by way of the Atlantic.

CREEP PREDICTS F.D.R. RE-ELECTION

Political Writer Here To Interview Talmadge on Appropriations Situation.

George Creel, nationally known political writer and observer, said here yesterday he expected President Roosevelt to be re-elected next year and then accepted an invitation of Governor Talmadge, one of the President's sharpest critics, to visit the Governor's farm in Monroe county.

Mr. Creel, who was a candidate for the democratic gubernatorial nomination in California last year, being defeated by Upton Sinclair, is in Georgia on assignment from Collier's Weekly.

"The republican party doesn't have a candidate who is outstanding and it does not have an issue," Creel said. "Hoover is still the boss of the party and he will name the candidate in the event he does not want to make the race himself."

The writer said he was in Atlanta to find out from Governor Talmadge how he expects to operate the state next year without a general appropriations act.

"This is something new in state government," he said. "If Governor Talmadge can operate without a budget bill his plans will be interesting."

The Governor has said he will not call the general assembly into extra session to enact an appropriations bill. It is understood he plans to put the state under martial law and operate it under his proclamation of emergency.

CALIFORNIAN HELD IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Former Movie Extra Found Shot to Death at Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—(P)—Lloyd Smith, 30, former radio announcer, was held for questioning today in connection with fatal shooting of Mrs. Harriet Waite, 29, former movie extra, whose body was found at an auto camp ground here.

Smith, a friend of Mrs. Waite, told Detective Lieutenants Ray Giese and Ray Bryan that she visited him at his apartment last night and had gone out to get some beer shortly before the shooting occurred.

Smith said he and Mrs. Waite planned to marry as soon as each received their final divorce decrees. Mrs. Waite's husband, he said, is Norman Waite, a screen cowboy. Smith asserted that several years ago Mrs. Waite was a "stand in" for Marion Nixon and Marceline Day, film actresses. A "stand in" poses while lights and cameras are being adjusted in order to save stars from discomfort.

RAW, TENDER NOSE and no wonder!

Rubbed, inflamed with harsh, damp handkerchiefs, when it should be gently treated with soft, absorbent, disposable KLEENEX

What a pain!—when you use wet, scratchy handkerchiefs on your nose. What a relief!—when you use soft Kleenex during a cold. Kleenex—so soft—so soothing—is also safer! Handkerchiefs let germs escape—no wonder colds quickly spread to the whole family. But Kleenex actually imprisons over 99% of all germs that touch it. No washing to do! ...Yes, Kleenex does away with this messy job. Won't it be a relief not to handle dozens of germ-laden handkerchiefs every time there's a cold in your home? And just think!—at the new low price—the lowest in history—you can use about thirty Kleenex Tissues for the average cost of having one cloth handkerchief laundered.

RATE ADJUSTMENT TO BE DISCUSSED

Willhoit Will Confer With Southeastern Officials at Nashville Convention.

Jud P. Willhoit, chairman of the Georgia Public Service Commission, said yesterday further efforts to "adjust" freight rates in the southeast will be discussed by delegates to the convention of the National Association of Utility Commissioners in Nashville, Tenn., this week.

Willhoit said he and Commissioner Tom Davis would leave for Nashville tonight to represent the Georgia commission and that southeastern delegates would gather during the three-day convention to discuss action seeking reduction in southeastern freight rates.

Willhoit appointed an executive committee of shippers' and commission representatives about a week ago to plan further freight reduction activity along lines discussed at a meeting here recently.

CHURCH OF GOD PASTOR DENIES BAN ON BOTTLES

The Church of God has no ban against the drinking of milk from bottles or against soft drinks that meet requirements of the pure food law, but does have a ban on alcohol, the Rev. Garner Wilkins, of 835 Hemphill avenue, announced yesterday. A press report from Chattanooga, where the church held its national convention last week, stated Saturday that the church had "lifted its ban on bottles—but, in effect, only on milk bottles."

The church never has had a rule against drinking from bottles, except from those containing intoxicants, said Mr. Wilkins. The Atlanta, who has no pastorate here but is a member of the Church of God on Sixth street, said he spoke as representative of R. P. Johnston, assistant general overseer of the church.

RFC LOANS AVAILABLE FOR SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Walter Cowart, chief clerk of the State Department of Education, said yesterday that Georgia school districts in financial distress may refinance their bonds by RFC loans. Such loans are available from a $10,000,000 federal appropriation for the purpose and instruction pamphlets have been distributed nationally to assist superintendents in securing refinancing, Cowart said. While some Georgia school districts have defaulted on bonds and others are in danger of default, a number of other states have had more difficulty, Cowart said. He explained that building bonds issued when tax values were high have proved "burdensome" when digest shrunk and some cases have necessitated doubling the millage levy.

GERMANY WILL PROFIT BY AFRICAN CONQUEST

Hitler Strengthens Position While Powers Quarrel; Keeps Free Hand.

By CARROLL KENWORTHY.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Adolf Hitler will not let Germany out of the League of Nations into the most favorable tactical position of any European power, according to opinion in high quarters here.

Protected by political isolation, the new Reich stands to gain immeasurably from current European unrest, provided Hitler plays the astute diplomatic game which has marked many of his movements, experts assert.

While her neighbors divert their attention to the Mediterranean-African crisis, Germany can continue strengthening her own military and economic situation for an eventual Italy's involvement in the Ethiopian dispute and British naval concentration in the Mediterranean are expected particularly to decrease the energy Italy can give to protection of Austria against the Anschluss movement.

Germany's original announcement of withdrawal from the League was regarded widely here as chiefly a demonstration of her renewed "independence." This impression prevailed although the act occurred in connection with her denunciation of the powers for their failure to disarm as provided in the Versailles treaty and the general disarmament conference.

Because of the nationalistic nature, Germany's actions have often been construed as similar to those of Japan and Italy in recent months. The three nations sometimes are classed together as those which are seeking most actively new power or markets and therefore tend to be regarded as "disturbers" by the nations which have more or are better satisfied with what they have.

Queen of Sheba Legend Breathed In Captured Holy City of Aksum

Noted Woman Ruler of African Empire Is Believed To Have Returned to Town After Visiting King Solomon at Jerusalem.

ROME, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Aksum, holy city of Ethiopia, whose capture was announced today, breathes the legend of the Queen of Sheba and King Solomon. A Jesuit church, was erected in 1500 and rose on the ruins of Ethiopia's first Coptic Christian church. Evidence of the connection of ancient Aksum civilization with Egyptian civilization is found in the hundreds of rectangular obelisks in the present city limits.

Aksum's holy fane, through the centuries brought the privileges of sanctuary to it. Men guilty of crime, refugee slaves and persecuted people who obtained its sanctuary could not be taken out by the power of even the emperor.

Ethiopians believe that the Ark of the Covenant is deposited at Aksum. Thousands of pilgrims go there each December for the ceremony of the ark. It is covered with great, beautiful, enameled damask cloth so that no profane eyes may see what it looks like. In the procession the ark is surrounded by the high clergy of the most privileged class in Ethiopia, who claim direct descent from the high priests who were the custodians of Solomon's temple.

Probably it was overrun by tribes from Arabia. In the third century A. D., Latin monks landed on the coast of Aksum kingdom and spread Christianity, making the city the center of Christian Ethiopia. The Church of St. Mary Zion, a Jesuit church, was erected in 1500 and rose on the ruins of Ethiopia's first Coptic Christian church.

ETHIOPIAN EMBARGO IS LIFTED BY BRITAIN

obtaining funds for the Italian government or for Italian public bodies or for persons or corporations in Italian territory.

The day disclosed formidable difficulties in the way of a worldwide economic and financial boycott against a warring nation, already well supplied with munitions. The League discovered, among other things, that its member states have constitutions which cannot idly be ignored.

Financial isolation of Italy was in effect approved by the League's plenary committee of 52 nations when it adopted recommendations of the financial sanctions committee. Austria and Hungary made reservations.

Exemptions in the financial sanctions are made as to religious and humanitarian projects. Thus Red Cross funds and those of religious organizations will not be shut off from Italy.

Argentina's Hands Tied. Argentina pointedly raised the constitutional question in the committee of 18 when Dr. Enrique Ruiz Guianazu, who is president of the League council, explained that financial sanctions could not be applied to Argentina immediately because such steps would require the approval of parliament.

Urged at a subsequent meeting to clarify Argentina's attitude, Ruiz Guianazu said his government must be consulted on the matter and that Argentina must be fair to all of its citizens, who include many of Italian origin. Argentina, however, did not make a formal reservation when the financial blockade came up for a final decision.

The Netherlands and Switzerland also insisted upon the necessity of having sanctions approved by national legislation. The Dutch delegate pointed out that legislation had been obtained at the earliest possible moment, while the Swiss delegate said the move would have to be endorsed by his government.

Eden's Proposal. These various reservations—formal and informal—led Eden to make a proposal, which was adopted, that governments be invited to put into operation at once such measures as they can enforce without fresh legislation and to take all practicable steps so the measures recommended would be completely in effect by October 31, the deadline for effecting financial and economic sanctions.

Austria and Hungary continued their "abstentionist" tactics. The Austrian delegate said Austria is a debtor country and therefore not in a position to lend money to Italy, and Hungary's representative took a similar stand.

The Venezuelan delegate merely notified the plenary committee he is still awaiting instructions from his government.

Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Russia's commissar for foreign affairs, began a drive to fix the exact obligations of League states under Article XVI of the League covenant the one covering sanctions.

Raw Materials Blockade. In connection with the projected offensive against Italy on the economic front, the committee decided to undertake an immediate study of the application of embargoes on raw materials and products essential to Italy's war effort.

An official communiqué also said an inquiry could be pushed for the cessation of Italian exports to countries which are members of this League.

The powers decided in this connection upon mutual assistance, if necessary, so that losses may be equitably shared.

The communiqué indicated that importance must be given to the following points in the application of sanctions: "The desirability of ascertaining what percentage of the general trade of each state is constituted by transactions with Italy as a whole; that transit towards Italy must not be neglected; the co-operation of non-League states must be considered, especially as regards the transit of commodities to Italy."

Austria and Hungary. In other words, the League leaders fear Austria and Hungary may erect a finely laid scheme of world powers by allowing war necessities to reach Italy through their territories on neutral nations such as Germany.

Because of the growing complications in the application of sanctions, the committee of 18 created three sub-committees to work out separate phases of sanctions against Italy.

One will study a "buy nothing from Italy" plan, another will handle the problem of compensation for states likely to suffer disproportionately if sanctions are strictly applied, such as Rumania, Greece and Switzerland, and the third subcommittee will go into the constitutional and legal difficulties of certain states, such as Argentina.

EX-SPECTOR SAYS DUCE EXPECTS EUROPEAN WAR. BY CHARLES H. GUTTILL.
ROME, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini apparently believes Great Britain means war and seems to have lost hope of avoiding a European conflict, former Senator Henry Allen, of Kansas, told the Associated Press tonight after an interview with Duce.

Allen was received for half an hour in audience this afternoon. He said he found Mussolini in excellent spirits, despite the depressing effects of the times.

"In spite of the heavy international threat under which he is proceeding," said the former senator, "Duce impresses me as being probably the calmest ruler in the world today."

"Apparently he regards the die as cast and he has no domestic problem so far as consolidation of power is concerned," Allen said. "He gave me the feeling that he does not hope for avoidance of a European war. He continues to assert he will not leave the League of Nations unless military sanctions are employed. Apparently he believes frankly that England means war."

ENGLAND SHIPS ARMS TO JIGJA FORCES. ROME, Oct. 15.—(Tuesday)—(AP) Italian newspaper correspondents reported tonight that British ships had enormous influx of arms to Jigja, in southern Ethiopia, by way of Berbera, British Somaliland, has resulted from the lifting of the British arms embargo against Ethiopia.

The dispatches said small ships loaded with munitions and arms are arriving continually at the port. Two vessels have just arrived, one Italian correspondent reported, with four armored cars and six airplanes, as well as other war materials.

The passage by the League of Nations of a resolution involving a financial blockade of Italy was considered in effect a victory here, as just one of many bitter pills this nation is prepared to swallow until military enforcement of these sanctions comes along.

In informed financial quarters it was explained the League measure will likely stimulate the drain on Italy's gold reserve, inasmuch as credit facilities for exports and imports have been largely transacted by Italy through London banks, operations which will now be cut off.

With the application of financial sanctions, Italy will have to pay gold for her imports.

ETHIOPIAN WAR CHEST RALLIES HILL TRIBES

Mountain Warriors, Supplied With Money, Move to Defense of Harar.

By LAURENCE STALLINGS.

HARAR, Ethiopia, Oct. 14.—(By Wireless)—Ethiopia is opening her war chest along the southern front and dish out gold and silver to the hill tribes, chiefs, thus assuring the allegiance of the hill guards.

This correspondent saw Fitawrari Bakale, a veteran leader of the embattled tribes in the mountain country around Jigja, receive his allotment of money bags and depart merrily on his back.

He is accompanied by 2,000 other "big shots" from the hills.

Stallings.

Happily supplied with Emperor Haile Selassie's hard money, the pick of the mountain warriors are now on their way south to Sasa Baneh, munitions depot and important link in the defense of Harar, Jigja and Dire-dawa.

Cajoling their men with the tinkle of coins, the Ethiopian commanders are now redispersing their troops on the southern front, moving toward the Webbe Shibili river after failing to draw the Italian forces to the desert. Bakale and his comrades are joining the forces led by Ras Desta Denu, son-in-law of the emperor, who is planning to strike the Italians on their left wing as they press farther into Ogaden province.

The marksmanship of the highland clan, this observer can testify, is superb. Bakale is able to knock a homing at a hundred yards offhand. His wife, who accompanies him, proudly carries a chromium-plated rifle, it is quite capable of making it perform.

The mountains are swarming with peasants determined to defend their homes against the Italians. Waterholes are strongly guarded, for it is the Ethiopian's intention to make his enemy die of thirst. Harar is now almost a ghost town. Rumors that the Italians were advancing swiftly from the south and fear of bombing from the air sent women and children fleeing from the city and a large portion of the populace is sleeping in the hills. Europeans are flocking to the protection of the British flag, many of them finding a haven at the British consulate.

opian war would result soon from the expected clash of an Ethiopian army of 100,000 under Emperor Haile Selassie's son-in-law and an Italian force led by General Rodolfo Graziani.

The southern Italian army under Graziani, governor of Italian Somaliland, headed toward Harar, on the way into the center of Ethiopia, was expected to be attacked from the flank by the army of Ras Desta Denu, who are estimated to outnumber the Italians by nearly 15 to 1.

Forced Marches. Ras Desta Denu, pushing his men in forced marches, left his position near the Webbe Shibili river, and planned if possible to join forces with the Boer Colonel Siwanika, commander of the Italian border of Italian Somaliland, who has thrown his 60,000 irregular soldiers to the Ethiopian cause.

General Graziani's force was accompanied by 200 airplanes and 250 tanks, and had already advanced 30 miles. It held a line from the British Somaliland frontier near Bobotele southwest to Kabrin, Berdelah and Masara, and Ethiopian sources declared the fascist army had already killed and wounded at least 10,000 Ethiopians.

These sources said Italian planes had reported dropped 350 bombs on the southern front, and that the whole population of the town of Damot (not shown on maps) was wiped out.

Haile to Remain. While Emperor Selassie appealed to the International Red Cross for aid in equipment to lessen effects of modern warfare, diplomatic circles were reported by Ethiopian officials as saying 11 nations had urged Premier Mussolini not to attack the capital from the air.

Haile Selassie, replying to an appeal from a patriotic women's organization, said the constitution requires him to go to the front when the military situation requires.

ITALIANS CAPTURE ASKUM, HOLY CITY. (Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press.) WITH THE ITALIAN FORCES AT ADUWA, Ethiopia, Sunday, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Aksum, holy city of ancient Ethiopia, fell into the hands of Italy's armies today without so much as a single gun-shot.

The warriors of Emperor Haile Selassie had evacuated the city and the entire civil population manifested its submission to the Italian authorities.

Occupation of Aksum, for many days reported as taken or about to be taken, gave the advancing Roman legions a front approximately 70 miles long in northern Ethiopia, as well as a route to Adigrat.

A Coptic Christian mass was celebrated, and the presence of De Bono and his staff was considered a tribute to the Ethiopian church, as well as an attempt to win over the Coptic priests who have great influence in the land.

The mass, celebrated in the cathedral of Aduwa, was a mass of thanksgiving for an Italian victory accomplished with little bloodshed.

Afterwards, General De Bono spoke outside the cathedral, formally declaring the captured territory annexed to the realm of the house of Savoy.

(Dispatches from Rome and Ethiopia said six more provinces, chiefs, with their troops and arms, had surrendered to Italy, following the example set last week by Degia Haile Selassie's Gussa, powerful northern Ethiopian overlord.)

It was reported that certain recommendations will require answers from the county board and the grand jurors are said to be returning the presentments this week in order that the commission may reply before the September-October grand jury goes out of office.

Judge Hugh M. Dorsey, in Fulton superior court, yesterday drew the names of the following grand jury which will be sworn in November 4:

Commissioners Summed.

All five county commissioners will be summoned before the grand jury as a whole, either today or Friday, it was understood.

Special presentments, which it is believed will contain recommendations of the commission, are to be returned Friday.

Lovely Models Show "Luxable Fabrics"

A trio of attractive creations, all made of "Luxable fabrics," which were modeled yesterday at Davison-Paxon Company store. Left to right, June Spalding in a blue silver satin evening gown; Martha DeGolian in a black knit afternoon frock showing the Russian influence, and Frances Norman in a pink crushed velvet negligee for morning wear.

Fifty Models Will Be Seen This Afternoon at Davison-Paxon Store.

A fashion show of 50 models with all the garments, including knitted costumes, made of "luxable fabrics," was staged by Davison-Paxon yesterday and will be repeated this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the restaurant of the store.

Miss Marguerite Pierce, washability expert and stylist for Pictorial, the pattern used in the making of the models, is here from New York to conduct the show. She will remain in the store throughout the week for consultation on sewing and laundry problems.

Washable clothes for summer are taken for granted but when a complete fashion show of garments for fall and winter will pass a washability test, that is special news. These have passed the Lux laboratory tests and the show is a lesson in keeping under wardrobe upkeep for thrifty women. The fabrics are all fashion-right, as well as practical and can be easily made by these Lux-inspired patterns which are so simple for the home dressmaker to follow.

Every woman who attends the show, or who buys fabrics or knitting yarns during the week, will be given a free box of Lux.

PEACE OF AMERICAS URGED ON ALL BY HULL. Secretary Declares Pan-American Relations Are Lesson to Strife Torn.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Into a world situation drawn tense by East African conflict, Secretary Hull today projected a hope "all nations soon will forever forsake the barbarous institution of war."

In urging the countries of North and South America to adopt a united stand against war, the secretary of state chose as the sounding board for his latest peace utterance the second assembly of the Pan-American Institute of Geography and History.

"We are determined to keep the peace and we call upon the rest of the world to do likewise," he told delegates and visitors from 21 countries.

He referred only indirectly to the Italo-Ethiopian war, declaring "menacing conditions elsewhere constitute a solemn warning to us."

BULLDOG TUMMYACHE CURED WITH DENTISTRY. MADISON, Wis., Oct. 14.—(AP)—"Pugy," a French bulldog, today had one shiny gold filling and three silver fillings in her teeth as a result of a trip to the dentist.

The dog's owners, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Johnson, decided on the dental job after Pugy showed signs of indigestion and loss of appetite. The anesthetic was administered by a Madison dentist.

Woman Awarded $10,000. LANSING, Mich., Oct. 14.—(AP)—A circuit court jury awarded Mrs. Anna Shepherd, of Grand Rapids, Mich., $10,000 damages today for the death of her husband in the disastrous Hotel Kears fire here last December 11. Mrs. Shepherd had asked for $75,000.

WHY SUFFER PAIN NEEDLESSLY? Quick, Safe, Harmless Means Ends Pain at Once

Muscular pains... in shoulders, back, chest, abdomen, arms or legs, vanish under a Johnson's Red Cross Plaster. Even the dull, sharp or throbbing pain of rheumatism, lumbago, lame back, stiffness or sprains, give way before this most modern and economical pain destroyer... the most modern for nearly fifty years!

Why suffer needlessly? Simply lay the Johnson's Red Cross Plaster over the aching part and forget it. Go on with your work as usual. And while you work, gently and effectively the plaster soothes and supports and massages the aching part and the skin absorbs the relieving medication. You feel exhilarated, pain gone.

These famous plasters... Johnson & Johnson, America's largest manufacturer of surgical dressings. For years and years... for practically two generations... people have bought millions each year... because they do relieve muscular pain fast and because they are as clean to use as a towel... no fumes... no muss... no bother. And they last so long.

All druggists sell these effective plasters... which you can identify by the Red Cross on the plaster itself. Adv.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things: First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any drug store. No. 10 size—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much quinine and gives you 25% more for your money.

RURAL POSTMASTERS OPEN SESSION TODAY

Five Hundred Visitors in Atlanta for Four-Day Convention.

Postmasters of America's small cities, designated by the government as the third and fourth class postmasters, gather today at the Ansley hotel for the opening session of their four-day convention, to work out the problems of their trade and swap ideas for the building up of government business.

Approximately 185 delegates are in attendance and these have brought with them wives and relatives that increase their number to more than 500.

Kildroy P. Aldrick, chief inspector of the Postoffice Department, and Harrison Parkman, purchasing agent and director, division of building operations and supplies, of the postal department, both from Washington, will be the outstanding speakers on today's program.

Invocation will be pronounced this morning by Dr. W. H. Knight, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle and welcoming addresses will be made by Mayor Pro Tem. E. A. Gilliam, Postmaster Lon F. Livingston, of Atlanta, E. A. McBrayer, secretary of the Atlanta Convention and Tourist Bureau, and Mrs. L. Bertie Rushing, of Glenview, Ga., president of the Georgia branch of the organization. The response will be by J. A. Moody, of Cotton Valley, La.

John T. Clapp, president of the association, will make his report for the year and annual reports will be submitted by E. A. Meeks, national secretary; Mrs. Lucy C. Benner, national treasurer, and John B. Millan, chairman of the auditing committee.

Postal Officials Gather for Convention

For four days, beginning today, third and fourth class postmasters of America will thresh out their problems at their national convention in the Ansley hotel. Here is a group, laying plans for today's opening session. Seated, left to right, E. A. Meeks, of Washington, D. C., secretary of the National League of District Postmasters and its representative at the national capital; Mrs. L. Bertie Rushing, state president, of Glenview, Ga.; Standing, Miss Melville Pitts, state secretary, of Newborn, Ga., and Harrison Parkman, purchasing agent of the postoffice department at Washington, who will address the convention today. Nation's Final 'Mail Only' Plane Leaves Airport Here Early Today

The last exclusive mail plane operated in the United States roared from the Atlanta municipal airport for Jacksonville, on the last leg of its final flight from Chicago, at 5:30 o'clock this morning. The flight marked the passing of the "pony express of the air."

Peculiarly enough the passing of planes, flown solely for mail, comes simultaneously with the nation-wide celebration of Air Navigation Week, which will be featured here Friday by Air Progress Day and "open house" at the airport.

An overnight passenger service between Chicago and Miami, with Atlanta as a central stopping point, will be inaugurated today by Eastern Air Lines, officials stated yesterday. A fleet of modern Lockheed Electra transports will supplement the mail planes and will supplement the regular daylight flights of Douglas airliners, it was said.

The schedule for the new overnight passenger service is as follows: Planes will depart from Chicago at 11 p. m. daily and from Miami at 8:30 p. m. The northbound plane will arrive here at 12:35 o'clock and depart 12:50 o'clock (midnight), while the southbound plane will arrive here at 4:10 a. m. and leave at 4:30 a. m. The southbound plane will arrive in Miami at 10:25 a. m. daily and the northbound plane in Chicago at 6:30 a. m.

At the airport on Friday guides will be stationed at the entrances to buildings to show school children and all others interested in aviation through the weather bureau, radio department and departments of the Delta and Eastern Air Lines, it was announced yesterday. Arrangements also are being made for a radio program to be broadcast from a plane as it flies over the city Friday afternoon, it was said.

Between 6 and 7:30 o'clock at night there are four arrivals and three departures of planes. Many planes, showing the progress of aviation, will be on display, with guides on hand to answer questions for visitors, it was said.

SCHOOLS MERGER VOTE TO BE ASKED

Non-Office Holding Members of Consolidation Commission To Back Move.

Consolidation of Atlanta and Fulton county school systems and other overlapping departments of the two governments probably will be recommended tomorrow to Mayor Key's consolidation commission by the non-officeholding members of the merger group.

Hugh C. Couch, secretary of the commission and head of the nine non-office holding members, yesterday conferred with the mayor before issuing the call for tomorrow's session. The call is for 10:30 o'clock.

It is anticipated that the citizens' group will ask the whole commission to request the county board of education to urge city council to seek the school consolidation election in the March county primary.

Under the law, city council must call an election on merger of the two school systems under the county if the Fulton board of education requests it.

Key wants the sanitary, police, health and taxing units merged also, and it is likely that the citizens' group will add these to the list.

Under plans which Key and Couch have devised, the city election on the proposed mergers would be held at the same time that the county primary is conducted next March.

Safe Driving Pledge

In the interest of accident prevention and safer conditions on the highways and in co-operation with the Safety Council of The Atlanta Constitution, I am making the following pledge:

1. To drive at moderate speed and on own side of road.
2. Not to pass cars on curves or hills.
3. To stop at stop signs.
4. Not to jump traffic lights.
5. In city traffic to be particularly watchful for pedestrians stepping into the line of traffic from parked cars.
6. Always to give hand signals showing my intention of turning to the left, to the right, or stopping, and not to leave the curb from a parked position without giving a signal.
7. To be fair to other drivers in all respects and to refrain from reckless driving.

The Safety Council of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

Fill out and mail this pledge to the Safety Council of The Atlanta Constitution, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope for return of windshield stickers.

ROLLESTON IS NAMED CHEST DIVISION HEAD

Civic Leader Begins Organization of 'Groups' Workers in Downtown Area.

Organization of the larger groups division of the Community Chest campaign, which will carry the story of the Chest to 75,000 workers in the large business and industrial enterprises in the Atlanta area, was begun yesterday by Moreton Rolleston, civic leader and Georgia Power Company executive.

Mr. Rolleston's appointment as director of the division was announced by Julian V. Boehm, general campaign chairman.

Mr. Rolleston began immediately the formation of plans to win the widest participation in the Chest among the employees of these companies. Active solicitation will start in advance of the campaign, which begins November 18.

Gordon B. Brooks, of the Retail Credit Company, was named assistant to the division director.

"The need is so great this year," Mr. Rolleston said, "that we must have the active support of all the executives of business houses that employ large groups of men and women."

"A letter has gone out to the heads of these firms asking that they name key men in their own organizations to contact every man and woman with a plea for support. We are asking them to put all possible emphasis on this work."

"The Chest has a difficult task this year and cannot meet it adequately without more generous and widespread support than ever before. There are so many more demands to be met, and so many more people in need as the result of the unusual conditions of the last few years."

CONTRACT AWARDED TO REBUILD BRIDGE

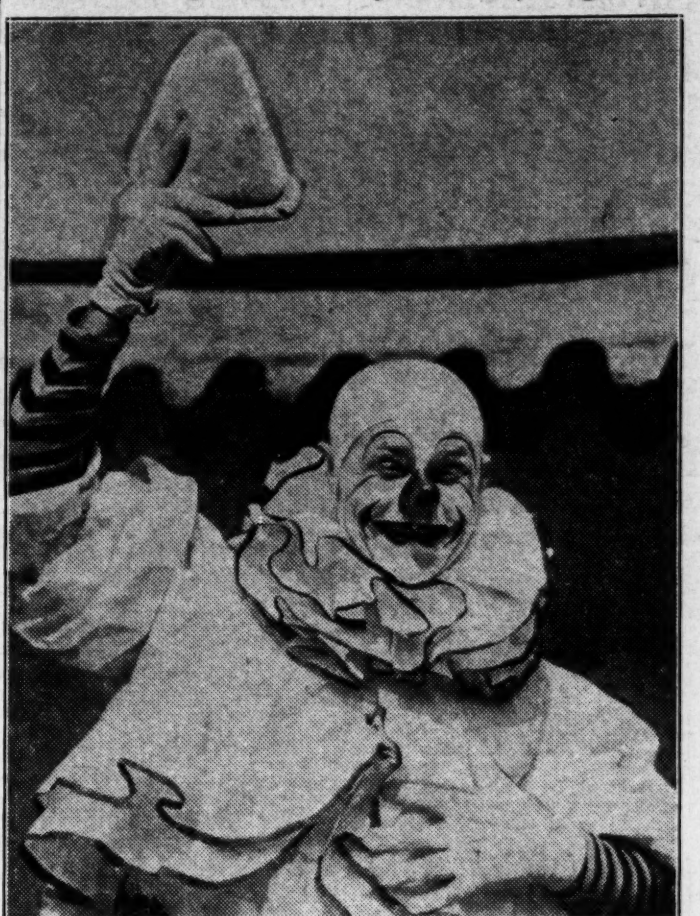

The Georgia Highway Department yesterday awarded to Fred Scott, Thomasville contractor, the contract to replace a portion of the Ocmulgee river bridge which was burned recently near Lumber City.

Scott's bid, $54,950, was approximately $20,000 less than a previous estimate and $3,800 less than the next lowest bid, which was made by his brother, D. B. Scott.

The highest bid was approximately $70,000. About 15 contractors sought the job.

Scott said work would be started on the project immediately. Contract time on the job is specified at 100 days.

Star Among 150 Funny Men of Big Show

Felix Adler, one of the real stars of the 150 clowns with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus.

Clowns Must Learn Technique When They First Join Big Circus

Clowning is a business before it becomes an art, as has been said of acting. In other words, there is a definite technique to be mastered before one can become a funny man under the big top. This is most manifest in the clown sallies of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus, coming to the Highland avenue show grounds here on Thursday, where several European stage drolls have failed to click.

One of the most famous of the continental clowns, whose name was well known throughout America, was lost in his debut under the great tent of the big show until Tom and Everett Hart, two of the finest American joys, took him in hand. This same thing has happened again and again, and the clown, no matter if he has had smaller circus experience, who can race into the big top of the Greatest Show on Earth and score right off, does not exist.

The vast Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus arena, with its seven rings and stages, hippodrome track and aerial maze, freezes the newcomer. Nobody sees him. He must be helped by the seasoned funsters, who, to their everlasting credit, have never let down a newcomer yet.

They may only give him a dog comic to lead around, but that little act puts him in the picture, gives him confidence until he can learn the ropes. There are 150 clowns with the big show this year, and they present 1,500 gags, really funny gags.

BRUNO'S LAWYERSEEKS STAY OF EXECUTION

Attorney Will Move To Carry Case Before U. S. Supreme Court.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 14.—(AP) Egbert Rosecrans, one of Bruno Richard Hauptmann's lawyers, started the legal proceedings today to save Hauptmann from the electric chair while they are carrying his fight to the supreme court of the United States.

Rosecrans appeared before Chancellor Luther A. Campbell and made application for a stay of execution of the death sentence, pending a request that the supreme court grant Hauptmann a writ of certiorari.

In local language Rosecrans asked for a stay of the remittitur and judgment. Chancellor Campbell suggested that the application be made before the full court of errors and appeals in Trenton tomorrow. Rosecrans agreed to do this and notified the attorney general's office that such application will be made. Should Rosecrans' application be granted Hauptmann's execution will be held up, pending supreme court action.

WGST ASKS BOARD FOR POWER INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Representatives of four broadcasting stations—WGST Atlanta, KARG Little Rock, WMFN Fairmont, W. Va., and WJAR Providence, R. I.—appeared before the Federal Communications Commission today to ask for increases in power.

The stations, all on 890 kilocycles, told the commission they were troubled by XEV, powerful Mexico city station on the same frequency, and said the increases in power were needed for local coverage.

WGST, the Georgia Tech station, now on 500 watts night and 1,000 watts day, asked for 1,000 watts night and day.

TIED and PEPPLESS

No wonder so many of us get up in the morning feeling as tired as when we went to bed—no wonder the world looks blue. If your stomach is full of a thing like bile, rancid vinegar, your food doesn't do you much good. You get what comes from a sour fermenting mass. You can't help but lose strength, get nervous and feel exhausted all the time. If this acid gets over into the bowels, it upsets their action and you get constipated. Then toxic poisons get into the blood and start a lot of things like headaches, rheumatic pains, bad skin, etc. Don't take salts or purgatives to clean this sourness—they flush out vital body fluids and leave your system dry and inflamed without helping the cause. Try Flacidan, the new medical discovery with the double action. Flacidan corrects excessive acidity without disturbing the stomach juices. It forms a soothing coating over the making of more burning acid. You get RELIEF at once from gas and acid indigestion. Flacidan regularly for a short time and you'll soon realize at the astonishing return of vigor. Ask for the new, liberal size 25c package of Flacidan at any drug store.

ATLANTA, GA., OCT. 15, 1935.

ANOTHER TRAGIC WEEK-END

Sunday and Monday there occurred in Atlanta and other Georgia communities the funerals of the victims of a series of week-end automobile crashes in the state that snuffed out the lives of 21 men, women and children.

In many other communities physicians were seeking to save the lives and ease the agony of dozens of other victims of the speed mania.

There is no more horrible death than that which comes as a result of an automobile crash—and those who are injured are often so torn and disfigured as to oftentimes be unrecognizable even by their loved ones and friends.

There is no more sickening realization than for the driver of an automobile to know that his carelessness or recklessness is responsible for the crushing and crunching of the life from a fellow human body—or the infliction of wounds that will disfigure or disfigure a friend or a loved one for life.

And yet that risk is run every time a driver sends his car hurtling forward in disregard of the speed limits, or drives it, even at moderate speed, in defiance of traffic regulations based on common sense.

It is an invitation to death and destruction for the driver of an automobile to attempt to pass another car while going up hill or passing a blind corner—or to operate his car at night without proper lights—or to neglect to have his brakes put in order—but on every highway and street in Georgia, day and night, such foolhardy driving is taking place.

In no state in the Union is a driver's license law and an alert highway patrol worse needed than in Georgia that an end can be brought to such carnivals of death and suffering from which the state suffered on the past week-end.

News reports from Berlin bring the information that hereafter huge yellow crosses will be painted by the police officials of the city on the cars of all drivers who are chronic violators of the traffic laws. Minor offenders will have their cars decorated with a yellow ring.

Such a badge of disgrace appearing on a driver's car would go far toward bringing him to a realization of the seriousness of his offense against public safety when he drives in a dangerous manner.

Lacking sufficiently drastic traffic laws and a highway patrol to enforce them, the only hope to lessen the tragic toll Georgia suffers from preventable automobile accidents lies in the awakening of the public consciousness to the necessity of care in the operation of motor cars.

It is for this purpose that The Constitution Safety Council asks the co-operation of every careful driver. The objective sought is a priceless one—the salvation of the lives of the men, women and children that are being snuffed out every week in the state.

The anti-noise people have organized no chapter in Rome. Our thought is that Victor Emmanuel would make a dandy nucleus.

Western packers insist that exporters eat up a great part of the profit. Such as having to install jeweler's scales to weigh the pork.

It seems that "Conquering Lion of Judah" is a very ancient title. Probably dating back to some early press agent for a wrestler.

G. O. P. SPLIT EMPHASIZED

The refusal of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, outstanding leader of the republican party in the eastern states, to agree to the suggestion of Senator Borah, western progressive republican, that trust-busting be made the chief issue of the 1936 campaign, illustrates the seriousness of the split on policies between the eastern and western wings of the party.

The republicans of the northern and eastern states, where industry, finance and big business is largely concentrated, are and always have been definitely conservative, while the western republicans, composed almost entirely of farmers, small business owners and professional men, are markedly progressive.

In his letter to the son of former President Theodore Roosevelt, whose big-stick activities were chiefly aimed at the destruction of unhealthy business monopolies, Senator Borah writes: "It stirs my blood to have men talk about the preservation of constitutional government who are the liveried servants of those artificially combined economic forces, monopolies which are now fixing prices and levying tolls on millions of distressed people."

Roosevelt has been the leader of the pack that during recent months has gone into full cry over the "threat" to the constitution contained in the policies of the democratic administration, but even Borah's coupling of this attitude with the plea for an attack on trusts that are milking the people is insufficient to wean the eastern republicans away from their traditional position of protection of, and allegiance to, big business.

Theodore Roosevelt tried to accomplish this end when he became President upon the assassination of McKinley, but the bosses of the party refused to support him and his subsequent repudiation of the party and candidacy for presidency as a progressive was largely responsible for the election of Wilson.

Following the war, the republican reactionaries again came into power and the administrations of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover brought big business back into influence in Washington.

Borah's plea to the son of the first trust-buster has fallen on shallow ground. Young Theodore is too deeply involved with the reactionaries to follow in his illustrious father's footsteps. Politically he is not interested in the "common people" championed by the first Theodore, nor the "forgotten man" of his cousin Franklin.

Western republicans want no such policies and will follow the leadership of none of the eastern spokesmen for the party. The outcome is likely to be the nomination of a middle-ground candidate who will be entirely satisfactory to neither wing, and whose defeat by Franklin D. Roosevelt will be assured.

TUNG OIL IMPORTS INCREASE.
The opportunity for the development of a new major agricultural industry in Georgia in the production of tung oil is again emphasized in the report of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce that this oil headed the chemical imports into the country during July with a total of 17,328,000 pounds, valued at nearly $2,000,000.

In July, 1934, these imports totaled only 12,066,600, with a value of $800,000. Practically the entire amount of tung oil used in this country is imported from China, these imports averaging 100,000,000 pounds during the past few years.

Exhaustive experiments by the American and British governments have proven conclusively that the tung tree can be successfully grown only in its native habitat of south China and in a strip of land bordering the Gulf of Mexico, running from Florida to Texas, with the best growing conditions being found in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

It is estimated that in time America will use approximately $25,000,000 of tung oil annually. Georgia should receive a large share of this revenue, and the sooner the land owners of the southern section of the state, and those interested in a new field for investment, start extensive groves of tung trees, the sooner will the state obtain the returns from a major new agricultural industry.

Going to town to put up a monument at Adwua is a lot like driving over the back wall at Indianapolis to celebrate Memorial Day.

The changing of the name of the dam still rankles; yet there seems little the G. O. P. can do unless it cares to nominate Herbert Boulders for the presidency.

That new type of paving has the usual rocks and asphalt laid on a layer of cotton. It is then cut up neatly into resort mattresses.

Allenby To The East.

ADDIS ABABA—A rumor circulates here in Addis Ababa that General Allenby, the conqueror of the Turks, is on his way out to the Near East with a mission to co-ordinate British military efforts in war between Italy and Ethiopia. Nothing is liable to make so deep a stir among the peoples of the Near East as this rumor. True, the Arabs will make it that England is up to something and consequently that they had better be on the alert themselves.

If Britain should, by any chance, take an active part in the conflict in favor of Ethiopia, she may count on the Arabs to support her to the last man. Italian intrigue in the Near East which had for object to detach the Arabic peoples from their friendship for Britain, has completely miscarried. From Jerusalem to Tcheran and from Cairo to Assouan there prevails the widest possible sympathy for Ethiopia's cause. It is as if these peoples, who have so often fought for their own independence, feel the ultimate menace of what might be in store for them if Ethiopia should become a subject-state to Italy.

Emir Abdullah, of the Jordanian Arab, the sentiment of the Arabic world when he said: "Ethiopia is a Christian nation, and we are Moslems, nevertheless, we are on Ethiopia's side." The great war between the Arabs and the Moslems is the fact that the threat against Ethiopia's independence should come from Rome, the great world-center of Christianity.

Egypt Stirring.
In Egypt, sympathy for Ethiopia expresses itself in mass meetings to demand the closing of the Suez canal to Italian shipping. The airplane that landed at Assouan, and attempts have been made to burn Italian planes when they put in for repairs or supplies on their way to Ethiopia. The great war between the Arabs and the Moslems is the fact that the threat against Ethiopia's independence should come from Rome, the great world-center of Christianity.

Churches Alarmed.
What determines the active sympathy for Ethiopia in Egypt is an understanding of what it means to be a subject state. The Egyptians were under Turkish suzerainty for hundreds of years. The memory of that humiliation rankles.

The Christians of Egypt have a more direct interest in Ethiopia, and Ethiopia have the same church and the diocese of Addis Ababa owes allegiance to Alexandria. The Abuna of the Ethiopian church is in Addis Ababa. His Holiness Mathewos is an Egyptian. The office of Abuna in Ethiopia is always filled by an Egyptian.

The Coptic bishops of Egypt, Palestine and Ethiopia are to assemble shortly in a special synod to consider a danger-laden situation. They fear that the installation of a pope in Abyssinia would be detrimental to the interests of the Coptic church, as Italy's master would most likely be followed by Roman Catholic missionary endeavor in Ethiopia.

At present, it should be said, the Catholic missionaries enjoy complete freedom in Ethiopia. They are all Frenchmen. They and their converts constitute a very small minority. The position of the Roman Catholic church in Ethiopia would undergo a radical change if the dominion of Ethiopia should become Italian. The Coptic bishops fear that their Catholic colleagues would insist on full equality for both churches in the event of an Italian victory.

The First World War 20 Years Ago Today.
October 15, 1915—Exactly 100 years before Napoleon had arrived at St. Helena and European powers thought they had disposed of rulers who made war without regard for international agreements.

The British Midland division captured by storm a segment of the heretofore impenetrable Hohenzollern line, which lay near what had been the town of Verdun, a marvel of military ingenuity, out deeply into the earth and studded with machine guns at every point. Such a defense could be easily repaired and still fire for there were inexhaustible materials in the easily worked dirt near at hand. No better fortification than mother earth has ever been found.

Yet it yielded, as the most impregnable of man will, to dogged courage and persistence. But the British feat was in vain, for after the midland division had captured the town, their possession was short and they couldn't defend what they had taken.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON.

MONEY WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Unprinted yarns have spread stealthily around the country, creating a wide impression that the New Dealers have been doing a little greenbacking on the sly.

Widest spread is the specific tale that the banks are issuing a lot of money with only government bonds as security. Such issues are permissible under an act passed in 1932.

There is one place where you can check such stories into the wastebasket with reasonable assurance. That is at the Federal Reserve Board. Its ordinary figures are above suspicion, although the same cannot be said of some of the more partisan agencies of government here.

PEANUTS Officials are skittish on the subject and never mention it, but the figures are not secret. They are printed weekly, but buried in the general banking statistics so that a layman, and even some financial men, will have trouble unless they know how and where to find them. If they find the right spot, they will learn that the amount of money now outstanding against government bonds as sole security is $174,000,000, a mere bag of peanuts in the big shell money game.

At the end of last year, the amount was $237,000,000. At the end of 1933, it was $608,000,000. The peak goes back to the banking holiday of 1933, when the amount soared to a billion for a few days. The first such money was issued in May, 1932, three months after the act passed. The amount was $97,000,000. The high that year came during a hoarding swing in July, the amount outstanding then being $682,000,000.

KERNEL This means there is far less of that kind of money in circulation now than at any time since the hoarding surge of 1932. And if you dig into it deeper you will find there seems to be none of it in circulation now.

The amount of money outstanding when the 1932 law was passed was $5,600,000,000. Last week, the amount was exactly $5,600,000,000. In other words, the issuance of bond money has not increased the amount of money in circulation.

The answer to that enigma is the secret of the whole bond-money situation. The banks, it appears, do not actually issue new money against their bonds as a general rule. In the first place, they do not need new money. They have needed it in the past only when hoarding was draining them.

Their old money is secured by acceptance reserves, gold, silver, etc. When they need a part of these regular reserves for other particular purposes from time to time, they merely put a few of their government bonds up to make up the deficiency.

Thus, the monetary inflation effects of the transaction are so small that in any good inflationist, like Senator Thomas, would be inclined to weep in anguish if he only knew how small they are.

PEN MONEY The significance is further explained if you consider what would happen if the bond-money bookkeeping transactions were suddenly to be outlawed today.

The latest FRB statement shows there is $276,000,000 of unused notes now in federal reserve banks, also about three billions in gold available as note reserves. So the banks as a whole could transfer their government bond-money reserves to either unused notes or the gold account and suffer nothing more than inconvenience.

It seems the bond-money seems to be pen money, rather than inflationary cash. At least it is the way the figures show it is now being used.

HISTORY Italian political activity in the Red sea commenced in 1933. The Yemen tribesmen arose in revolt against King Ibn Saud, a British mannequin in an Arabian costume. With the support of Britain, Ibn Saud won, but London did not forget.

More recently, of course, came the open anti-British campaign in the controlled Italian press.

Napoleon once tried to end British domination of the Mediterranean and found it too big for him.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Manhattan The football game that was to have been the first loud noise in a presidential boom was played Saturday at Ebbets Field, the home park of the Brooklyn Dodgers. It brought together those two natural rivals, Louisiana State University, Huey Long school, and Manhattan College, New York, coached by Chick McEwen. The natural rivalry of Louisiana State and Manhattan in football consists in the fact that both teams are, or were, directed by great masters of the art of bullying.

Huey had hit upon the idea of developing a great football team, possibly a national champion, to carry on the reputation of somebody else. That idea will ruin any people, anywhere, at any time.

It would have softened and destroyed the Pilgrim Fathers. It would have defeated the pioneers who won the west. It would have made times hard and hopeless in the days of our greatest prosperity.

Why is it fatal? Because people who feel that way quit trying to do anything for themselves.

How long would our troubles last if every adult in America would begin doing, to the utmost of his ability, the sensible, honorable, manly thing that he knows he should do?

If everybody would begin doing his independent and self-reliant best, quit trying to get something without earning it, quit dreaming of softer and easier life at the expense of somebody else, quit thinking of "rights" that don't exist, quit feeling sorry for himself, and grimly fight for survival as our grandfathers did, most of our national problems would solve themselves.

It won't happen soon, for a man doesn't begin a hard job by himself so long as he expects his neighbors to come along and help. But it must happen in the end, and postponement serves only to make the job harder.

The sea would doleful thing much after that except at night when the good doctors are not at home. Even in our times such comment is dangerous. I advise young doctors to read the Autocrat and the Professor sketches, but not to say anything except "Five dollars, please" until they have had at least ten years of practice. I have anything on your chest that needs saying, let me know—if it is printable maybe I can get it over without risk to your practice.

COWARDICE IS BLAMED FOR VET WIND-DEATHS

Post Leader Accuses Officers of Deserting and Leaving Men to Fate.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 14.—(AP)—An American Legion committee investigating death of several hundred veterans in Florida keys camps in the September 2 hurricane was told by A. J. Wheeler, adjutant of the Spanish-American War Veterans' post here, "The officers deserted when the storm approached and left the men to their fate."

Wheeler said he reached this conclusion after conducting a private investigation which also disclosed, he reported, the "lost" evacuation train "had steam up on Sunday afternoon, the day before the storm, but had to wait a full day before authority came from Washington for it to proceed." The 11-car relief train, dispatched from Miami to bring out the 700 war veterans housed in light wooden structures on the exposed keys, was howled over by storm waves at Islamorada, 15 miles short of its destination.

From his hospital bed, Veteran Paul Pugh said Ray Shelton, in charge of the three FERA camps, said "there is nothing to worry about" on the eve of the storm.

The ill-fated veteran was bitter in his denunciation of the failure to evacuate the camps.

Captain Ed Sheeran, who experienced the 1926 hurricane in the keys, warned those in charge on Sunday it would mean loss of life unless the men were taken out," Pugh declared.

Captain Sheeran appeared before the committee earlier in the day, but his request the testimony be not made public was granted.

The American Legion ordered a committee into Florida to sort the masses of charges that followed the disaster. Major Quincy Melton, Griffin (Ga.) editor-publisher, is chairman of the group.

Coffee's successor, Judge Feidelson recently returned to Washington from Atlanta, where he served for a few weeks reputedly as public relations adviser to Miss Gay B. Shepperson, administrator of the Works Progress Administration in Georgia.

Judge Feidelson's brief occupancy of an office in Miss Shepperson's department was shrouded in mystery. Reports affirmed and denied that he was "advising Miss Shepperson" as to her needs in the field of public relations.

When he left Atlanta, it was said that he had suggested that Miss Shepperson add a public relations man to her staff and this rumor was supported yesterday by announcement from Miss Shepperson that she has appointed Bruce Hall, an Atlanta newspaperman, well known in public relations circles, to the post.

Business leaders in Atlanta last night declared that the supplanting of Mr. Coffee was unavailing. They praised his work for the three months that he had acted as regional director of the present board and his services for the year preceding under the old National Labor Relations Board, which was disbanded.

Judge Feidelson's career in both law and journalism has been laid wholly in the south with the exception of the past year spent in Washington. After a public school education at Swainsboro, Ga., he took an academic course at the University of Georgia and graduated from that university's law school in 1908. His specialized interest in legislation for children led to his appointment as judge of the juvenile court in Savannah, Ga., where he served from 1913 to 1918. In that year he entered journalism, being successively editor of the Wilmington (N. C.) Morning Star, editor of the Richmond (Va.) Evening Dispatch, professor of journalism at William and Mary College, and for ten years associate editor of the Birmingham (Ala.) Age-Herald. Judge Feidelson is married and has three children.

Covers Wide Territory. The Atlanta office is one of 21 regional agencies of the National Labor Relations Board and includes the states of North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama, north of the northern border of Georgia, Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Vermont, New Brunswick, Maine, and the Canadian provinces of Ontario, Quebec, and Nova Scotia.

Under the Wagner-Connelly act, signed by President Roosevelt July 5, the National Labor Relations Board is made responsible that the collective bargaining rights of workers are guarded against restraint and interference by their employers.

It will be a part of Judge Feidelson's duties to receive charges of unfair labor practices as specified in the Wagner act and to make an investigation of the facts. Upon this investigation will depend whether the facts warrant a formal hearing on evidence in the case. Thomas L. Emerson, who was recently sent to Atlanta from New Jersey, will be associated with Judge Feidelson in the Atlanta office as the regional attorney.

PLAN FOR 1936 SALES SHOWN CADILLAC MEN

Home Office Executives Attend Sales Conference Held Here Yesterday.

More than 75 dealers, salesmen and other members of the Cadillac-LaSalle retail organization from Georgia and near-by states gathered at the Billmore hotel yesterday to hear factory executives outline advertising and merchandising plans for the 1936 lines of Cadillac and LaSalle cars.

Among the visiting group from the home office were J. C. Chick, general sales manager; R. L. Newton, assistant general sales manager; W. C. Herring, sales promotion manager; J. A. Roche, business management department; K. E. Gray, business management manager; W. A. Houser, manager of parts and service, and J. W. Eberts, of the factory sales promotion department.

D. A. Bennett, Atlanta district manager, assisted the factory group in conducting the meeting. Presentation of a special motion picture showing the new Cadillac and LaSalle cars in action was a feature of the meeting. The film portrayed the broad program of advertising support which has been arranged to assist dealers in acquainting the public with the many new features of the 1936 cars.

"Since their announcement recently, the new cars have attracted wide public attention," said J. C. Chick, general sales manager. "The Cadillac and LaSalle presentation is proving the most successful and impressive in the history of the Cadillac Motor Car Company."

TARIFFS ARE BLAMED FOR PROCESSING TAX

groups had perverted our tariff policy far from its original course.

"I suppose there never has been a tariff as effective as the Hawley-Smoot tariff in inciting other countries to retaliate against our tariff barriers," Wallace said.

Wallace said the consumer would be the chief victim should the United States' position of creditor nation be lost.

"In finding the AAA," he said, "we were quite definitely attempting to do for agriculture prices what a moderate tariff, if effective, would have done." Wallace contended the processing taxes have been effective and many agriculture schedules of the Hawley-Smoot tariff and have not. A proper tariff, he said, affects nine commodities, while the present tariff concerns 3,000 items.

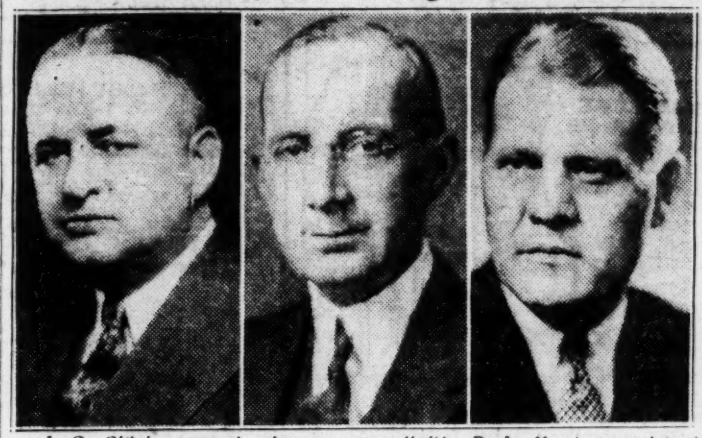

"Yet I doubt," he said, "if the tariff on these 3,000 items benefits any more persons than the processing tax on only nine items. There are more than 3,000,000 contract signers under the AAA, and slightly more than 5,000,000 wage earners in tariff-protected industries."

He contended that "the high tariff groups have again and again overplayed their hand." For lack of purchasing power at home, he said, these groups have demanded higher and higher tariffs against imports without providing for an increase in purchasing power.

Exports Depend on Imports. The agriculture industry said: "Apparently it will be necessary to continue with the processing tax or something equally effective until the people of the United States compel the high tariff groups to behave as our creditor position demands. Until we are willing to accept more imports of goods and services, we cannot hope for any sound and enduring restoration of our export trade. Without an export trade, American agriculture must continue the painful process of throttling down its 360,000,000-acre plant to one of perhaps 325,000,000 acres. And, let me assure you that so long as those excess acres exist, and despite benefit payments, farmers will find the process of contraction just as distasteful as anyone else."

Must Pay Highest Rate. Henceforth goods imported from Germany must pay the highest prevailing duties while goods from all other nations will be granted the benefit of any tariff reductions contained in reciprocal trade pacts now effective with Belgium, Sweden and Haiti. The new policy means higher duties ties for Germany on more than 100 items.

Germany is the first and only nation to be denied tariff concessions, but Mr. Roosevelt has warned Denmark and Portugal unless they enter into discussions to conclude trade pacts which will remove discriminations against American goods, all beneficial tariff reductions granted other nations may be withdrawn from them also.

France, Italy, Switzerland, Canada and The Netherlands, now engaged in negotiating trade pacts, have been granted favorable treatment until December 31. German goods also will be denied any reductions granted in the Brazilian and Colombian pacts when they become effective, or in any trade agreements now under consideration with a dozen other European and Latin American nations.

Sign Trade Pact. The United States and Germany recently have exchanged ratifications of a new treaty of friendship and commerce, to replace their 1925 pact. It contains all pertinent matter governing relations between the two countries, except the unconditional most-favored-nation clause to which Germany objected because of its interference with a policy of negotiating the special and preferential agreements.

The chief items on which Germany will hereafter pay the highest prevailing duties are glass, cement, granite blocks, sponge iron, wire, anti-friction ball and roller bearings, saws, pocket knives, several kinds of structural steel and iron, processed paper board and light house lenses.

The list will, however, be extended as the United States concludes more agreements and grants duty reductions on any products Germany may also export.

German-American trade has been greatly reduced during the last few years.

CONFECTION 'ETHICS' GOES ON SALE HERE

A new confection under the name of "Ethics" produced in Georgia, went on sale in Atlanta yesterday, being offered in drug stores, groceries, cigar stores and many other establishments.

Produced by the Fine Products Corporation of Augusta and Atlanta, "Ethics" is described as a non-medicated confection which gives mouth freshness and sweeter breath to everyone. It is stated it eliminates all after-taste regardless of what food has been eaten or what beverage imbibed at the same time it is said to be so pure and good that children enjoy it just as well as do adults.

The name is derived, it is indicated, from the way in which "Ethics" all over the country, is now promoting "ethical breath."

WEEKEND AUTO DEATHS HIT NEW HIGH TOTAL

For safety, the red stickers are appearing on more and more of the automobiles met on the highways of the state. And each car so marked is a signal of hope for the future, a promise of greater courtesy and better driving on the highways every day.

P. T. A. Leader Aids. Mrs. Mitchell, head of the safety department of the state Parent-Teacher Association, has already secured signed pledges from hundreds of drivers all over the state. Yesterday she called at The Constitution and received 100 more blank pledges and the accompanying stickers.

Persons in position to spread the gospel of safe driving, officers of business firms, manufacturing plants, civic organizations, clubs and other groups, are invited to secure the pledges of their groups in this drive. All such groups who sign 100 per cent will be acknowledged in this column when they notify the Safety Council that everyone of its members has signed.

The Atlanta Motor Company yesterday launched a drive to get every motorist in its organization, every one with whom their people come in contact, to sign the pledge. They received 500 blank pledges and 1,000 stickers for this purpose.

From S. E. Young came nine signed pledges, from friends, and a request for stickers for the cars.

The Rico school at Palmetto, is going to get every pupil and parent who drives a car to sign. They received 125 blank pledges.

Congratulations to The Constitution for this purpose.

DON'T TOLERATE—EXTERMINATE

THE BUSINESS PICK-UP

Throughout the country generally and in the Central of Georgia territory in particular, carloads handled by the railroads show an encouraging increase. For every day in September the total number of loaded freight cars handled by the Central of Georgia was greater than for the corresponding day of 1934. For the month the total increase was 6,807 carloads, or 28 per cent., the best showing of any month this year. The best previous showing was a 12 per cent increase for May.

Cars actually loaded on the Central of Georgia increased 36 per cent., or more than twice the percentage of increase in loaded cars received from connecting lines.

Railroad carloadings have long been regarded as a barometer indicating business activity. That is still true, and there is therefore every reason for satisfaction at the improved business which this increase in carloadings indicates. And that satisfaction at improved business should not be confined to the management and working force of this railroad.

As a matter of fact, so far as the Central of Georgia is concerned there are conditions which offset somewhat this increase of 28 per cent. in carloads. There has been a reduction in the average earnings on each car handled. While September's loads increased 28 per cent., in number, September freight revenue increased only 23 per cent. Due to a generally lower level of rates and perhaps to lighter loadings, the increase in revenue failed to keep pace with the increase in total cars handled. A substantial part of the increase in cars handled is due to movement of government cotton from warehouses and of construction materials for Federal aid road building projects.

Expenses too have increased materially. Wages, the major item of railroad expense, have been increased because of complete restoration of the pay cut made in 1932. For September, total wages paid on this railroad were 16 per cent. greater than for September last year. Practically all materials and supplies which the railroads buy cost more now than a year ago.

The management of the Central of Georgia Railway is encouraged at the increase in its traffic, and is hopeful that the upward trend will continue.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

DEADLOCK UNBROKEN OVER WPA PAY SCALE

labor representatives but no definite date has been set. The scale goes into effect tomorrow morning just as we announced it last week except we have agreed to increase the $30-a-month scale for unskilled 1 hour in Atlanta by 10 per cent, because we believe the $30 scale is too low and we are trying to give unskilled labor an opportunity to earn at least a scale sufficient to meet the minimum cost of living in Atlanta."

Ware Included. Miss Shepperson also announced that Ware county had been omitted inadvertently from her announcement last week and workers in Ware will be given the scales effective tomorrow in Richmond, Bibb, Chatham, Muscogee, Floyd and Troup counties.

The scale that goes into effect in these counties today provides 140 hours a month for unskilled and intermediate labor and 120 hours for skilled labor. The work week for skilled labor will be four days a week of 7 1/2 hours a day.

Scales going into effect in Fulton and DeKalb counties today provide 140 hours a month for unskilled and intermediate labor, and 96 hours for skilled labor. The work week for skilled workers will be three days a week of eight hours a day. The maximum wage is $38 a month.

All counties not listed in these changes will continue their present hourly schedule.

Union Rates Demanded. Labor demands had been that all forms of labor, skilled and unskilled, must be given the prevailing union rates.

Their protest to Miss Shepperson said: "We cannot condone a policy that will permit a federal agency to destroy and standardize and wipe out all the gains made for workers and their families through many years of heroic labor struggles."

"For those whom we represent to accept wages on federal projects 30 to 40 per cent under existing wage scales established by the economic force would compel our people in private industry to immediately suffer a similar reduction in their earning power with its attendant destruction of living conditions."

"We will be compelled if an adjustment is not speedily rendered to utilize our economic force withdrawing our members and their friends from these projects if we are not to have the same consideration as other political subdivisions of the United States."

The strike, Mr. Gogge said after yesterday's conference, will be called as soon as the labor leaders feel they have exhausted all efforts for compromise.

OLD CHANGE RACKET IS OUT IN NEW GUISE

"Send three dinners please and change for a ten-dollar bill," said the voice over the phone yesterday to Charles Routsos, operator of the cafe at 401 Moreland avenue. "The address is 310 Moreland avenue. Will you hurry?"

"Coming right over," said Routsos. His delivery boy found a negro woman waiting on the front steps. She took the dinners and the "change for ten dollars."

"I'll be right back with the money," she said as she walked around the house to the rear.

"She hasn't come back until yet," complained Routsos to police late yesterday.

THE CITIZENS & SOUTHERN NATIONAL BANK

No Account Too Large... None Too Small.

This is number 146 in a series of visits by "The Man-on-the-Street"

UPON the conscientious banker, the sense of responsibility rests heavily. He occupies a relation which is like that of no other type of business man. To his institution thousands of men and women come voluntarily to place their money where they believe it will be safe. To no other man or institution is such confidence given. If the banker is conscientious, he is determined to keep that money safe.

To him also come men who expect credit accommodation without which business and industry in the community cannot function. Again it is equally the obligation of the banker to make money available for this purpose—always keeping in mind the thousands depending on his judgment for the safety of their money.

Finally, he has the obligation of making bank operations show a profit so that the institution can continue to function and to build surplus and reserves as further protection for the depositors.

Caution—yes! Sound bank operations must always embrace caution. Careful checking of credits! Assuredly this is essential. But—behind these, in our bank, will always be found fair, sympathetic consideration of every credit request and a certainty that if the loan is fair to the depositors—it will be made.

DOTTED LINE HONEYMOON

INSTALLMENT XXVI.

Finally, when he buttoned his coat with a suggestive air, the girl could endure her suspense no longer. She must learn something about this night's excursion before she allowed Vince to get away from her.

"What time is your appointment with Larry?" she asked, trying to make the tone of her voice casual.

"Oh . . . late."

"How late?"

"Well, I don't have to meet him until about twelve. But I thought I'd start a little early, you know. It's quite a little ways to walk."

"Where are you going to meet him?"

"In a little restaurant where he eats sometimes." Vince was becoming more and more uncomfortable under this dire examination. "I guess I'll be trotting along, Skipper."

"Not yet. It's not eleven. I want to know something . . ."

"Where are you and Larry going?"

"Why back to the farm . . . as far as I know."

"Direct?"

"Why . . . You're getting sort of curious, aren't you, Skipper?"

"Yes, I am, Vince," she said earnestly. "But I have a reason. Won't you please tell me just what you're going to do tonight?"

"Sure. But I don't know. Larry asked me to meet him. Said he was going . . ."

"Where?"

"I don't know." Vince voice took on a stubborn tone. "After all, that's Larry's business. I'm only taking orders."

Jacqueline was thinking fast now. Vince had shown his hand, in a way. He knew more about what was afoot than he was admitting; that of he was following Larry in a blind fashion. "Taking orders." That didn't quite sound like Vince, easy-going as he was always. All the old fears came trooping back.

There was still some reason to believe that Larry was doing something without the law, or intended to. There was some mystery about the old Cutter house and its owner. And, in spite of his easy assurance, she was convinced that his stay at the Browns meant that he was in hiding. He had misled Lieutenant Staples by a ruse that was as bold as it was clever. And he seemed to have succeeded.

Larry was marking time, waiting.

"I still don't like . . ."

"Nonsense!" She tried to laugh. The excitement of the night's adventure was making itself felt, buoying her up. "Can't a woman go out and find her husband without stirring up such a fuss?" she wanted to know.

Vince only stared at her as she opened the door and blew him a parting kiss. He was beyond words.

Jacqueline tried to observe her driver's face in the gloom when she told him to drive her to Hayner's roadhouse. He accepted his directions without evincing surprise that a lady should be going to such a place at midnight.

In the semi-darkness of her retreat, she lighted a cigaret and tried to ponder the situation calmly.

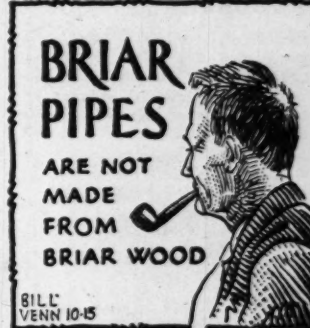

It was unfortunate that she had been obliged to confide in her father to the extent of revealing her marriage. It probably would be difficult to make him understand how she ever had been driven to embark upon married life in such a fashion. Vince had been a trifle erratic in manipulating his own home ties, but he clung to old-fashioned ideas. His own marriage had resulted from a love match, and a union such as hers would be little understood or approved.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Farley, Ph.D.

Most persons who use briar pipes are under the impression that they are made from briar wood. This is quite a mistake. The pipes are made in most cases from white Mediterranean heather root, which is sold on the market under the name "French briar." There are several other kinds of wood, especially of roots, which are also sold under the name "briar" or "brier," and in fact, any plant with woody stem bearing thorns or prickles may be found sold under this name. In England the wild rose is called by the name "briar." (Copyright, 1935, for The Constitution.)

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

ETHIOPIA—FAST AND PRESENT

II—Homes and Furniture.

A good deal of the land in Ethiopia is covered with clay soil. After there is rain, this soil is slippery, and it is also sticky. A man walking on it may slip, and whether he slips or not, he will find some of the mud clinging to his feet. As a rule, the natives go barefoot; much less mud will stick to feet than to shoes.

Many of the roofs are thatched. Others are made of mud. The floor is likely to be the ground, stamped hard and covered with mats.

There are windows and doors which "never close tight," and which the inside walls are covered with wall paper.

Rich or well-to-do families have floors made from wooden planks. In Addis Ababa and some smaller towns, wood is costly because it must be brought from a distance.

A few of the homes in a town may have stone walls; but elsewhere the popular building material. Wealthy people have houses with many rooms for themselves and for their servants, but seldom more than a story high. In speaking of the furniture used in Ethiopia, Gordon MacCreagh, an American traveler, told of tables "made of straw and rawhide . . . some, some, some, some, some, some, some low." He also mentioned beds which are "crude wooden frames interwoven with strips of rawhide with the hair left on—very, very raw hide."

Those are native products, but some families own tables, chairs and beds obtained from Europe through trade.

ATLANTA'S WHITE WAY MAY GLOW ONCE AGAIN

Power Company Offers City
Reduced Rate on Street
Lighting for 1936.

Possibility that Atlanta's 2,008 white way lights will blaze again before the Christmas holiday season loomed yesterday when the Georgia Power Company offered the city a "bargain price" for 1936 power.

The latest offer was in answer to the pleas of downtown merchants for more night lighting. Dewey L. Johnson, superintendent of city electrical affairs, delivered the proposition to Mayor Key, who reserved comment because of the unknown status of 1936 city finances.

At the present time, only 780 of the 2,008 white way lamps are burning. A total of 5,300 overhead street lights, however, are still in service. Under the plan all the white way lamps and the street lights would again be in service. The city's light bill at the present time is $193,000 for the year.

Under the present rate schedule, the city's bill for the entire system would be $247,000 annually, but power company officials offered to re-instate the entire system for a cost of $225,000 for 1936, a cut of $22,000 from the rate it normally would get.

Councilman Alvin L. Richards, chairman of the electric lights committee of city council, expressed a desire to work out the program if possible, but said he doubted that the city would increase its power bill.

Johnson, however, pointed out that the contract with the power company runs from December 1 of each year to December 1 of the succeeding year and if the municipality is able to increase its annual allocation for lighting about $32,000 for 1936, the lamps can be lighted in time for the holiday season.

H. V. JOHNSTON RITES ARE BEING PLANNED

Funeral arrangements were being made last night at Austell for H. V. Johnston, 53, who was injured fatally Sunday night on the Bankhead highway a half-mile this side of Austell, when he was struck by an automobile driven by Judge G. H. Howard, of Fulton superior court.

Johnston was struck as he was walking along the highway with a companion carrying gasoline to Johnston's car. Johnston, who was said to be crippled, was walking with his companion's assistance. Relatives denied that he had been drinking.

Dr. Luke Garrett, of Austell, who gave emergency treatment and then ordered him taken to an Atlanta hospital, declared yesterday that Judge Howard had spent considerable time in hunting a physician before locating him, due to a misunderstanding as to the name.

Dr. Garrett said that he was known throughout the section as "Dr. Luke" and that Judge Howard had been hunting a doctor by that name when he was told at Douglassville that the physician's name was Dr. Luke Garrett.

500 Million Light-Years' Distance Shows 100 Million Light Swarms

Huge Mount Wilson Observatory Telescope Fails To Disclose Void Out to Horizon of Its Sight, Yale Astronomer Declares.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 14.—(AP)—A major discovery of the world's largest telescope, that 500 million light-years away, out to the horizon of its sight, there is not one sign of a void in any direction, was described tonight at Yale University by Dr. Edwin P. Hubble, of Mount Wilson observatory.

This entire space is filled with nebulae, numbering 100 million, mostly swarms of stars traveling like bees swarming in flight. In these far-off swarms the telescope detects iron, hydrogen and calcium, the same substances familiar on earth.

It detects nothing whatever to forecast how much farther man must see to find any frontier of creation, or even to find anything startlingly different.

"The observable region of space,"

Dr. Hubble said, "is a vast sphere, perhaps a thousand million light-years in diameter. Throughout the sphere are scattered a hundred million nebulae—stellar systems—in various stages of their evolutionary history."

"The nebulae are distributed singly, in groups, and occasionally in great clusters, but when large volumes of space are compared, the tendency to cluster averages out. To the very limits of the telescope the large-scale distribution of the nebulae is approximately uniform."

"They are scattered at average intervals of the order of two million light-years, or perhaps 200 times their mean diameters. The pattern might be represented by tennis balls, 50 feet apart."

The average light from one of these nebulae is equal to 85,000,000 suns. This means that 85,000,000 stars the size of our own sun could give the light seen from a nebula, although its stars are almost certainly of varying sizes, so that 85,000,000 is not necessarily a close count of the stars in a nebula.

The size of the nebulae ranges from 1,500 light-years diameter of swarms which seem round like a ball, to 10,000 light-years diameter for forms which have unrolled into open spirals. But if all the solid matter composing these vast swarms were divided to dust and spread evenly through the immense space the 100-inch telescope can see, the result would be about one grain of sand per volume of space equal to the size of the earth.

The light, or luminosity, of these nebulae averages about the same. Hence the distance can be estimated by brightness. Five hundred million light-years is the farthest the 100-inch telescope can see, and it sees them that far away.

ILLNESS IS BLAMED IN ORLEANS SUICIDE

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Illness was believed by the police to have prompted the death plunge today of a young woman tentatively identified by officers as Mrs. Gladys A. Post, of Chicago, from the window of her room on the seventh floor of the Jung hotel.

Hotel officials said the woman registered at the Jung Saturday under the name of "Mrs. A. Stykes."

SUTHERLAND NAMED TO BAR COMMITTEE

William A. Sutherland, of Atlanta, has been named a member of the American Bar Association's committee on federal taxation, William L. Ransom, president, announced yesterday.

Arthur A. Ballantine, of New York, will be chairman of the committee for the association year to end with its Boston convention during the week of August 24, 1936.

Mr. Sutherland was elected to membership in the American Bar Association in 1929 and has been regular in attendance at its annual meetings for the last several years. He was first appointed to the committee on

YALE AND NAVY TILT SATURDAY TO DRAW 55,000

Football at Eli May Again Become Million Dollar
Sport.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 14.—(AP) The cash register at the Yale Athletic Association jingled a post-depression tune today as it piled up the echo of the Eli's victory over Pennsylvania.

Once a million-dollar sport, football at Yale, as at other universities, has been more or less in financial doldrums during recent years. But the Bulldogs' spectacular triumph last week apparently has sounded the tocsin for a new era at Yale.

Athletic association officials reported today that the Yale-Navy contest Saturday promised to attract more persons to the bowl than any football game since 1931, when the Yale-Army tilt attracted 80,000 persons who filled every vantage point.

TICKET ORDERS. While sons of Eli everywhere were singing the praises of the Captain Mather K. (Kim) Whitehead's eleven, Business Manager Harold F. Woodcock, of the Yale A. A., and his staff were working frantically to fill the sudden avalanche of applications which today's mail brought.

As long lines of ticket seekers strode past his door, Woodcock said: "Judging from the demand for tickets, the contest on Saturday will attract close to 55,000 persons, the largest crowd since 1931, when Yale and Army filled the bowl. The Penn game undoubtedly had a lot to do with it."

From another official source, it was said that Woodcock probably was being "conservative."

Meanwhile, Head Coach Raymond W. (Ducky) Pond and the gridiron squad were cheered wherever they went by students and local alumni for their "intestinal fortitude," "grit" and ability to come from behind despite discouraging odds.

Pond, who warned Eli foes weeks before the season began "to hang up baskets where the goal posts are because Yale is going to play basketball-football," was pleased.

PLAYED AS UNIT. He said: "The team played as a unit once it got going. The blocking was good, as was the general line play after the first period and half of the second quarter. The squad showed me it has plenty of what it takes when it came back after trailing 20-6. We'll have to brush up our pass defense and line play before we are ready for Navy."

Yale's greatest showman, Larry Kelley, brilliant end from Williamsport, Pa., was jubilant today over how his partner, Bob Train, of Savannah, Ga., who worked from the line, pulled a "smart" one on Penn, Kelley said.

"In the early part of the game, the Penn backs kicked the Rose Bowl, Rose Bowl, waltz out for the Rose Bowl play—referring to the famous K-F 7 play through which Columbia upset Stanford in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Cal., two years ago."

"Late in the second period, Al Hesser, of Albany, N. Y., through the medium of this play, rushed 57 yards for a score after we had lined up again. Train sauntered casually over to the Penn backfield and told them:

"That was the Rose Bowl play."

The blue squad confined its practice today to light work.

Pitt and 'Irish' Stage Biggest Game of Week

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh-Norfolk game at the South Bend stadium was the nation's banner football game this week, although several other interesting inter-collegiate engagements and a flock of territorial regional brawls.

Jack Sutherland's Pitt Panthers and Elmer Layden's South Bend Ramblers are unbeaten and must be regarded as potential powers in the east and midwest, although their showings thus far have not been strikingly impressive.

Each outfit has won three games, and on the basis of their performances, Notre Dame probably will be slight favorite. The Irish rolled up 69 points against 10 for their opponents in beating Kansas, Carnegie Tech and Wisconsin. Pitt registered 77 points against 6 for the opposition in defeating three less formidable elevens, Waynesburg, Washington and Jefferson, all West Virginia.

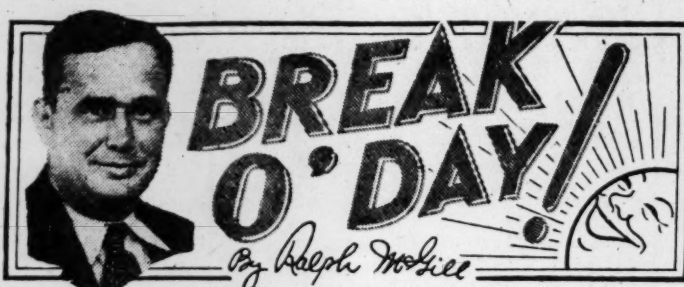

The Panthers have tangled with a top-caliber football school yet and Notre Dame was not as impressive against Kansas as was Michigan. Carnegie Tech has been New York University and not as impressive against Wisconsin as was Marquette. Nevertheless, Notre Dame's grid prospects are brighter than at any time during the past three years. And Jack Sutherland may be bringing his Panthers along slowly, priming them for important tilts. He is one of the smartest and most successful pilots in the country.

In another important inter-collegiate engagement, Tulane's Green Wave will try to engulf the Minnesota Gophers at Minneapolis. The unbeaten Gophers, fresh from a notable victory over Nebraska, will be favored over the lads from the bayous, already beaten by Auburn.

CHICKS WIN DISPUTE. DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 14.—(AP)—Services of Outfielder Joe Grace, who played last season with Paducah of the Kitty league, have been awarded the Memphis club of the Southern association. President W. G. Bramham, of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, announced today. A dispute over the player's contract arose when Paducah claimed to have sold it to the Boston Braves and Memphis claimed to have closed a deal for its purchase. Bramham said an investigation revealed no deal had been consummated between the Boston and Paducah clubs.

FIGHT CANCELLED. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The boxing show scheduled for the arena next Monday night, with welterweight Champion Barney Ross and Philadelphia's Jimmy Smith in the windup bout, was cancelled tonight after receipt of word that Ross had injured his hand and would be unable to appear.

The promoters said they would try to arrange another card for the following Monday night.

You love your Alma Mater. And you wonder why the old girl isn't winning a lot of football games.

It pains you. You want to fire the coach. You wonder if his "system" isn't antiquated and creaky. You speak vaguely of "new blood."

All of which makes it an extreme pleasure for this palladium of the common weal to give, in one easy lesson, the sure-fire solution of all football problems.

This is based on an absolute minimum. In this day of good football teams at large schools and small, a coach must, if he is going anywhere at all, possess at least:

Three good centers. Good offensively and defensively.

Five good guards. Good at pulling out and blocking. Four good tackles who can take it. The modern game is directed inside our outside tackle.

Four good ends. Good rangy fellows who can do all the regular jobs and also catch passes.

At least two good backs for every position. Two of them should be able to punt well. Two of them should pass well.

At least two must be able to back up a line and diagnose plays with some speed.

That is, as aforesaid, the positive minimum. That will give your coach, who likely is as good as the next one, a good football team. One that will lose only a game or so.

If you want him to have a team which will have a chance to go undefeated and bring great glory to the colors of your Alma Mater, then see that he has 33 good football players.

Football today is no longer played with one good team.

One good team may weather a game or so. But an injury or two and a good hard game will find them wilting in the fourth quarters of their games.

THIRTY-THREE MEN, BIERMAN SAYS.

Bernie Bierman, whose Minnesota team was rated as one of the two best in the game last year, had 33 good football players.

He not only had them, but he used them.

And at the end of the season he told me:

"I am convinced that to meet the demands of a difficult schedule a coach must have three good men for each position. Otherwise he cannot keep his team going from week to week."

And the gentleman from Minnesota is correct.

Games of last Saturday are illustrative.

Florida coaches reported their team stood up well until the reserve strength of Tulane began to tell. Certainly Georgia Tech would have been closer to Kentucky had the reserve ends been able to bear the brunt. They weren't.

Georgia Tech's condition is very bad. Tech, for instance, will go into the Duke game with three men out on account of injuries. This means Tech will have few reserves of any ability. Duke, with three men for most positions, and at least two for each, will be able to reduce the Jackets to a wobbly condition in the last half.

There never was a powerful team, in the modern game, which did not have ample reserves. That may be put down as an absolute prerequisite for a powerful, winning team.

ALABAMA'S RESERVES.

Before the present season started, I talked with Frank Thomas in Tuscaloosa following a long scrimmage by his Alabama football squad. They hadn't looked so good.

"You can't be as good as last year, no matter what this material does," I said, "and your reserve strength isn't so good looking."

"Here's something no one has thought of," said Thomas.

"Or at least if they have thought of it, they haven't mentioned it."

"We were credited with having great reserves last year. And maybe we did. But the fact remains I started my first team in every game and I kept them in until the other team was beaten. Not once did my reserves go in until the other team was worn out and a few touchdowns behind. That made it easy for the reserves. They couldn't miss looking good."

"This year some of our reserves will be regulars. I'll have to wait and see what happens when they start games against fresh, good teams."

Frank Thomas has found out. His reserve strength isn't so good. The spark isn't there. He is coaching harder than ever before. He has all the skill he had. But he hasn't the players.

And his pre-season worry was a just one.

This year the 1934 reserves don't start so well and the 1935 reserves can't get going.

Added to that are a number of injuries to key men. Riley Smith isn't in the best of condition. He has lost Bear Bryant, one of the better ends in Dixie.

Every hand is against him. Every team he meets will fly with everything it has in a hysterical, fanatical effort to beat the Rose Bowl victors.

It isn't a pleasant spot. But at that I look for Frank Thomas to pull through with a good year.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE.

There is a growing suspicion over at the University of Georgia that Hunk Anderson is waiting to strike his old pal and teammate, Harry J. Mehre, with a figurative blunt instrument.

The North Carolina State eleven has been pulling its punches, according to reports from the Tarheel state, hoping to keep Georgia in a calm frame of mind. And then, of course, leap from obscurity with a wild yell and fire both barrels at Georgia.

This may be true. Nothing would please Hunk Anderson more than to ruin the season for his old friend and pal, Harry Mehre. The two used to toil side by side in the Notre Dame line. Mr. Mehre at center; Mr. Anderson at guard.

But on Saturday they will be wishing each other the worst—in so far as touchdowns are concerned.

And the feeling grows at Athens that Hunk Anderson has been preparing an ambush for his Georgia friends.

But I still like Georgia.

HARTMAN AND LUMPKIN.

Peering from the press box at Athens Saturday, these eyes of mine found Bill Hartman, the sophomore fullback for Georgia, very restful to the appraising eye.

I had thought that "Father" Lumpkin, of Tech's 1928 football team, was the best sophomore football player I ever saw. Now comes Bill Hartman. The end of the season may find him Lumpkin's equal as a sophomore back. Lumpkin never played but the one year of college football. It will be interesting to see what Hartman is in two more years.

It was Lumpkin's habit to say, when quarterbacks worried over plays in the huddle, "Give me the blank ball and I will fire both barrels at them."

GEORGIA INTACT FOR N. C. STATE TEST SATURDAY

Maurice Green Will Be Ready; Alf Anderson
in Uniform.

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 14.—Marching through the Furman game with all players intact, the Georgia Bulldogs returned to the practice field for a light workout today.

It was good news that big Maurice Green would be ready for the game with N. C. State Saturday. Alf Anderson, star passer, was back in uniform and should be ready on schedule for the big game when the Alabama Crimson Tide here Saturday week.

Coach Harry Mehre's work on his second team may not have been in vain, after all, as the second string is hailed as having turned in a better performance Saturday than did the varsity eleven. Organization is the great need for second stringers, and should they gain this they will come in handy when Georgia hits the real tough games in the last stretch.

GOOD RECORD. Comparative scores do the N. C. State Wolfpack well. Coach Hunk Anderson's boys from Raleigh defeated Wake Forest, 21-6. The powerful Tarheels had a hard fight winning over the Wake Forest team, 14-0. It was not until the second half that the second touchdown was scored. As the University of North Carolina, regarded as a strong contender for honors this bears significance, as comparative scores go.

The North Carolina State team and Georgia will have at least two things in common. Both use the Notre Dame system.

And both are undefeated in three starts each. The State team has triumphed over South Carolina, Davidson and Wake Forest. This will be Georgia's first invasion of the North Carolina capital to face State. Georgia met the pack twice, winning both games. In 1933 the score was 20-0. Last year Georgia won, 27-0.

LIGHT WORKOUT. A light workout was held today, featuring punting and blocking, and a pass drill. The day's work was touched off with a dummy scrimmage by both the first and second teams. The second team engaged in a quarter dummy scrimmage against a mixed team of freshmen and Red Devils.

Coach Mehre was instructing backs in passing and was emphasizing decoys. Three scrimmages are scheduled for this week, as the schedule will resemble that of previous weeks.

Coach "Catfish" Smith, returned from witnessing the game between State and Wake Forest, says that Georgia will be against a formidable foe in State. The line is impressed by the work of Eddie Berinski, who raced 62 yards for a touchdown. "Cowboy" Robinson, and Murphy, other backs of the squad, are scheduled for this week, as the schedule will resemble that of previous weeks.

The Wolfpack are good tacklers. However, he is of the opinion that if Georgia plays up to the coaching bench, Rowe would be another game for the Bulldogs.

Clark, Tennessee

Play Here Saturday

Clark University will officially open her 1935 football season Saturday afternoon on the Clark University campus when they take on Tennessee State College at 2 o'clock.

Thus far this season Clark has stood out as one of the strongest football elevens in the south among the nation, and most of the squad are to see what the new edition of the Panthers look like.

The Tennessee aggregation last year ranked among the first four teams of the nation, and most of the squad returned this year. They will be remembered as the outfit that upset the doze to defeat the strong Wilberforce University eleven.

Coaches Robinson and Johnson are sending their squad at a fast pace in an effort to have them in the best of condition for this important encounter.

Tickets can be purchased at the business office of Clark University on the campus.

Tallapoosa Loses

To Cedartown, 34-25

CEDARTOWN, Ga., Oct. 14.—Cedartown High defeated Tallapoosa High, 34 to 25, in a ragged game yesterday. Each team was weak on the defensive, though the heavier Cedartown line held well. Cedartown outplayed the visitors but showed lack of experience, having lost almost every letter man of last year's team.

Methodist Leagues

To Meet Wednesday

The Methodist Young People's Athletic Association has invited basketball teams of other denominations to join with them in the leagues to be organized this winter. There will be a meeting at 6:30 Wednesday night at the Georgia Savings Bank building, Room 1101, for this purpose.

President Johnson hopes to get both boys' and girls' leagues organized this week, and to start playing the first week in December.

Prince Oana Weds

Birmingham Girl

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 14.—(AP)—Henry K. Oana Jr., slugging fielder for the Syracuse Chiefs, winners of the Governor's cup series in the International league, was married here on October 1, it was revealed today.

Oana and Miss Joyce Powell, of Winter Haven, Fla., obtained a marriage license at city hall on September 30, and at that time would not reveal their plans. However, they were married the following day in the rectory of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception here.

Miss Powell gave her age as 22. She said she was a native of Birmingham, Ala., and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Powell, of Winter Haven, Fla. Oana gave his age as 25 and said he was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Oana, of Honolulu.

The couple said they would visit Florida and Honolulu and probably would live in Florida.

Wade's Greatest Team Plays Tech Here Saturday

Dave Wilcox, Who Scouted the Devils, Tells of Team.

By Ralph McGill.

I fear for the football souls of these Jackets.

Much more very alarming reports are coming into town about Mr. Wallace Wade's Blue Devils from Duke. They are to play our Jackets next Saturday out at the Flats.

Mr. Everett Strupper, the referee, is quoted as saying he believes the 1935 Duke team is better by two touchdowns than the last Alabama team which Mr. Wallace Wade took to the coast to win with in the Rose Bowl.

Yesterday afternoon I encountered Mr. Dave Wilcox, last year a guard at Tech and this year a scout.

A BETTER TEAM. "What about Duke?" asked your inquiring reporter.

"Better than Kentucky by two touchdowns," said Dave Wilcox, who saw them in action last week and who saw Kentucky in a previous game.

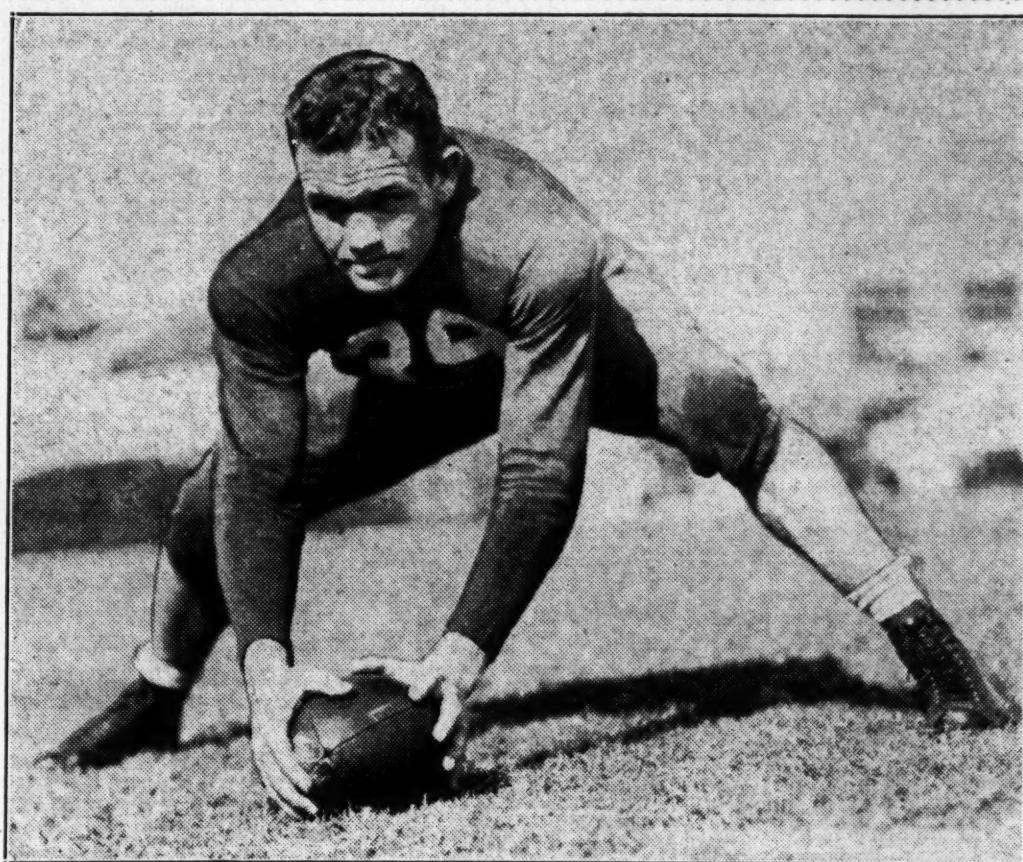

"Three of their best men were out," continued the Duke scout, "and yet they won from the strongest team Clemson has had without trouble. I don't see how the men who were out could be any better than the ones who played."

Two of Mr. Wade's men are out because they broke training rules. They are on probation and will not be put back until later. They may play Saturday. "Ace" Parker was out with injuries. Hackney took his place and started.

Mr. Wilcox had barely passed

The Tech Jackets were in something of a spot when Charley Preston, one of the south's better centers, was knocked out in the second quarter at Lexington Saturday.

But then Red Collins, the College Park boy, stepped in there and played a magnificent game. Collins is a sophomore and will help Tech greatly in games to come. Staff photo.

Schoolboy Rowe Glad Warneke Not in Same League With Him

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 14.—(AP)—One of the things that cheers Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe these days is the thought that he and Lon Warneke—who beat Rowe twice in the World Series—aren't in the same league.

But he thinks lanky Lon feels likewise. "I'm glad I don't have to face Warneke through a major league schedule," the tall Arkansas boy said today. "And I don't think Warneke would want to face me that often, either."

Rowe was in town with Tommy Bridges, hero of two World Series games, and other big leaguers, after an exhibition game in which their pickup nine lost yesterday.

Hunched over on the players' bench, Rowe was smiling until asked: "The breaks would decide it," he said without hesitation, "just as they did in the World Series."

"What was the matter in the first inning of the first series game? The Cubs scored two runs off the Schoolboy in the first and won behind Warneke, 3 to 0. Weren't you warmed up?"

Rowe stiffened, almost leaped off the bench and shouted: "Did you see it?" The answer was "No."

"A bunch of bleeding, bloody hits," he was still shouting. "Rogelli barely got his hands on an infield roller, but booted it out to center field and it went for a double. I fed Hartnett one way in on the handle and he lucked a pop single over first."

Bleeding, bloody hits, in diamond parlance are the scariest kind of scratch hits.

Rowe gives the Cubs credit for only one real hit in that first game, Demaree's homer in the ninth. He resents even that. Demaree, a high ball slugger, reached six inches over his head to blast that homer. Rowe purposely threw that high one to get Frank to "bite." Instead, Demaree parked it in the bleachers.

With Rowe and Bridges, is Charley Gehring, also acclaimed by sports writers as a series hero.

WADE TO SEND GREAT ELEVEN AGAINST TECH

Coach Alexander Depends on Two Guards and Two Tackles.

By Jack Troy.

Coach W. A. Alexander's Georgia Tech team, which is as game as any Tech team that has ever appeared at the Flats, is going to play Duke, one of Wallace Wade's greatest elevens, with just two tackles and two guards on Saturday at Grant field.

This is not to be taken as meaning that the Jackets are going out with only four players for the kick-off. The idea is that Captain Bob (Lefty) Eubanks, right tackle, and John Wilcox, right guard, are both definitely out. They are both seniors, are Eubanks and Wilcox, and their loss means that the right side of the line is to be weakened considerably.

WADE POWERHOUSE. A Wade team of course numbers at the guards and the tackles. And, hammering, keeps it up all day long. There is not very much of the fancy about a Wade team when it is going full steam ahead. A drive that is started by power plays will be continued along the same lines until the goal has been reached.

And they do say that Wallace Wade has assembled a team that will compare favorably with the last Alabama team he took to the Rose Bowl. It is being talked about that this Duke team has enough power to make Rose Bowl officials see the light even at this early stage in the season.

One ponder's Tech's chances on Saturday and there is only one conclusion to be reached: The Jackets are hopelessly out of the underdog.

UNDERDOG YEAR. This is the year of the underdog and the mighty have fallen on all fronts. But, in all fairness to Tech, it is not Tech that is the underdog, only Duke is the underdog.

Tech, with two teams and limited reserves, will fight until the human frame can stand no more. And it is then that the Jackets come back with unthinned reserves to take the game to speak, with the old ball game.

Not only is Tech shy in line reserves, especially with players like Eubanks and Wilcox out, but there is a great shortage of backfield replacements.

When Appleby, who is a fine back-up, is taken out of the game and Street sent in to replace him, the whole backfield set-up is rearranged because Street isn't a back-up.

Races for Sectional Football Titles Slowly Take Shape

HOLY CROSS TOP ELEVEN IN EAST, CRITICS ASSERT

Colgate Followers Among Those Casting Dissenting Vote.

By Bob Cavagnaro.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Hitch your chair to the desk and let's try to sort out this hairy football season.

The defeat of such early-season favorites as Stanford, Alabama, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Fordham has thrown sectional championships wide open but nevertheless the situation slowly is beginning to take shape along the line.

The east still has more than a dozen teams belonging to the "leader" class. Some critics hold Holy Cross Crusaders, a big, powerful outfit with a deceptive attack, as just about the strongest of the lot but there will be many dissenters among the supporters of Colgate, a red-hot contender despite losing to Iowa, Yale, Sutherland's Pitt Panthers, Yale, Princeton, Navy and Columbia. One of the last four will be eliminated from the running Saturday for Yale and Princeton at New Haven. Columbia will engage Penn at Philadelphia.

VILLANOVA GOOD.

That doesn't completely cover the eastern situation. Villanova has a record that matches Holy Cross undefeated, untied, unscored upon mark for four games; Temple boasts four straight wins; Dartmouth three, Syracuse and Army two each. New York University, with its best passing and running attack in several years, rates with the best of them but the Violets, until the climax game with Fordham, are favored by a comparatively soft schedule.

The Midwest has three outstanding independent teams in Notre Dame, Marquette and Michigan State. Notre Dame's supporters, who are the backbone of the national championship but more about just how good the itinerant Irish are will be known after their engagement Saturday with Pittsburgh and a later brush with Ohio State.

TOO YOUNG.

The "Big Ten" season is too young to gauge from a strictly conference angle. It's impossible to rate them numerically, but the leaders have been chosen from among Ohio State, Minnesota, Purdue, Illinois and Iowa. Minnesota, looked upon as an unknown quantity after a somewhat impressive opening against North Dakota State, threw off the wraps and proved it "belonged" last Saturday when the Gophers turned back the powerful and, in some quarters, highly favored Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Ohio State gets its first conference test Saturday against Northwestern. Purdue on the strength of the Boiler-makers' shutout of Fordham, looks like it will take a lot of beating.

THREE CONTENDERS.

Dopsters can breathe a little easier in the Southern conference. North Carolina, Duke and North Carolina State are the top-fighters with the prospect that N. C. and Duke will fight it out down the stretch for the sectional honor.

The Southeastern conference situation, however, is in a terrific muddle with any one of eight teams left with chances to cop the title. Louisiana State and Vanderbilt seemingly having a bulge on Kentucky, Tennessee, Tulane, Auburn, Georgia and Mississippi.

One might as well try and fish for a pin in a pot of molten lead as try to dope the Southwest. Rice, Southern Methodist, Texas and Texas Christian. There they are and take your pick. The S. M. U. Mustangs and the Christians have won four straight. The Mustangs are highly-regarded but no more so than Rice, conqueror of L. S. U. and Texas since the Longhorns bowled over Biff Jones' Oklahoma Sooners, 12-7.

NEBRASKA FIRST.

In the Big Six sector Nebraska is the ruling favorite over first, Oklahoma, and second, Kansas State. In the Rocky Mountain region it seems to be Denver, Utah and Utah State. On the Pacific coast California's Bears, with consecutive victories over the formidable St. Mary's and Oregon eleven and Santa Clara on deck Saturday, look like the best by a shade but University of California at Los Angeles and Washington's Huskies are right in the thick of the argument, both with excellent claims.

THE ALL-AMERICA WAR CRY.

From north and south—from east and west,
Where autumn banquets fill the air,
As young stars meet where fleet of feet
And crashing bodies have their flare—
Although October's barely in,
For those who seek the all-star troupe,
One far cry sounds above the rest—
"You can't leave Johnny Hoots off!"

From Oregon to Kankakee—
From southern palm to northern pine—
From Maine to sunny Tennessee—
From backfield Thorpes to charging line—
Each entry is "another clipp"—
The tom-toms beat—the bugles cough—
As seven millions slip this tip—
"You can't leave Johnny Hoots off!"

O, Golden Gate and Nassau Hall—
O, sons of Rice and Notre Dame—
Who can resist the siren call
When ninety thousand drive for fame—
Where just eleven places wait
Amid the bedlam, loud and shrill—
Where just eleven places wait
Is Johnny Hoots better still?

AFTER 41 YEARS.

A quiet, heavy-set young fellow of some 60-odd years looked down upon Franklin field. His name happened to be Glenn Scobey Warner, better known as Pop.

"How does the forty-first year of coaching feel?" I asked the old timer.

"I'll still be just as keen about football if I have the chance to coach 40 years more," Pop said.

"And you can say this is going to be one of my toughest seasons. We had a hard time stopping a big, well-coached Vanderbilt team that had two star ends and a good line. After Carnegie Tech and West Virginia, we then have nothing left except Michigan State, Marquette, Villanova and Bucknell. In my opinion, Michigan State, Marquette and Villanova are three of the best football teams you'll find. I'm willing to admit Temple is good—but we'll have to be better than good to slip by this schedule without taking a jolt."

"Do you still feel the same about Smukler?" I asked Pop.

"Just the same," he said. "So far this season he has been bothered with a leg injury, which has set him back, but, when this gets mended, you'll see him moving along again. And I've got a young back named Kenzo you'll hear about—not only a fast back, but a slippery one."

Pop Warner looks just about the same today as he did 41 years ago. You might think that 41 years of coaching football teams would lift any man's scalp. But Pop has been smart enough to develop the philosophy of not taking the situation in stride. And his love of the game has kept his keenness up to the level of the young Pop who coached at Cornell and Georgia over 40 years ago.

BOB DAVIS TOPS DIXIE SCORERS

A sophomore is setting a dizzy pace for individual scores in the Southern conference. Bob Davis, one of Kentucky's two brilliant halfbacks, has plunged far ahead with 54 points already, scoring against all four foes of the powerful Wildcats.

Chet Wynne's sensational newcomer, a "find," who has registered seven of his nine touchdowns on runs of 25 yards or more, is threatened only by a pair of Mississippi halfbacks, Ray Hapes and Rab Rodgers, each with six touchdowns and the former with an extra point also, have led Ed Walker's Ole Miss team to four straight victories, all with ease.

Among the 101 S. E. C. players to score already, no others have tallied more than three touchdowns each. Those with two touchdowns are numerous. Nine have plunged across the goal line three times apiece.

The following table shows touchdowns, points after touchdowns and total points for all players with 18 points or more.

Player	College	Position	td.	pts.	total
Davis	Kentucky	halfback	9	0	54
Hapes	Mississippi	halfback	6	1	37
Rodgers	Mississippi	halfback	6	0	36
Bond	Georgia	halfback	3	2	20
Wynne	Tulane	halfback	6	0	36
C. Hapes	Mississippi	halfback	8	0	48
Wynne	Georgia	halfback	3	0	18
Edwards	Ga. Tech	halfback	3	0	18
Fatherese	L. S. U.	halfback	3	0	18
Agnew	Vanderbilt	fullback	3	0	18
N. Peters	Mississippi	halfback	3	0	18
Johnson	Kentucky	halfback	3	0	18

At first dash you may not get the picture of 41 years of coaching—it covers every detail of the college game worth knowing and remembering—barring such names as Hinkley and Heffelfinger and Snake Ames.

You can see white stars and red stars flash across the field—with Pop's keen eyes keeping tab on every movement they make. Cornell—Georgia—Carlsile—Pittsburgh—Stanford and then Temple—from 1894 to 1935—and just warming up.

A Few Revisions.

"You'll have to do some revising of those six or eight or ten strongest teams," writes L. D. H.

And these revisions won't stop at the end of any coming week. Either Yale or the Navy must fall next Saturday in one of the day's big games. And by Saturday night there will be a dent in Notre Dame or Pittsburgh, both unwhipped at this spot.

So far as the list of the strongest goes, you can still keep Rice, Ohio State, Minnesota, Purdue, S. M. U., North Carolina, Duke, U. C. L. A., California and Washington. Not to forget Michigan State, Marquette, Temple, N. Y. U. and Mississippi State. Georgia has yet to be proved, but Hape Mehre has something.

Mal Stevens has one of N. Y. U.'s best teams in many years. Carnegie Tech gave Notre Dame an armful of trouble, but her defense was pretty well shot away by the violent bombardment.

Stanford's defeat on the west coast by a 1-point margin may lead to a new Rose Bowl contender. The two leaders are now Washington and California—but both still have Stanford to brush aside. And after this setback, there may be a Cardinal uprising for the stuff is there in all the needed quantities.

There is still a flock of unbeaten teams moving along, but, as usual, they will soon start falling faster and faster as the strain begins to show. The tough part of football is keeping any squad keeled up through eight or nine games. Almost any team can be three touchdowns different from one Saturday to the next.

WELL, WELL

Slippery Footballs No Problem for This Walla Walla Nursemaid

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Oct. 14.—(AP)—What's a slippery football to a quarterback who works his way through college by running a soap cake for yardage on babies' backs? Nothing whatever, say the Walla Walla nurses.

Nothing whatever, say the Walla Walla nurses. They have seen Phil Green, Whitman College's varsity quarterback, handle a muddy pigskin.

Green, who hails from Burton, Wash., pays his way at Whitman by performing the duties of a nursemaid—a job entailing scrubbing his young charges as well as putting them to bed.

When Green came to Whitman a year ago, he read an advertisement seeking a girl to take charge of children and do general housework. He proved his salesmanship by calling on the inquiring housewife and getting the place.

Like it? Sure—so much that when he returned to college this fall, he took the job again. On Sunday mornings he rises early, dresses the children, rushes them off to Sunday school and then goes into the kitchen and helps prepare the Sunday dinner.

TARHEELS, DUKE LEAD PARADE IN SOUTHERN

North Carolina Blue Devils Nurse Fond Hopes for Bowl Invitation.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 14.—(AP)—

Two sensational Old North State eleven—North Carolina and Duke—ducking the bouquets tossed at them by their followers, thought today they could smell the fragrance of the roses that bloom in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

Both had long rows to hoe and their meeting on November 16 will eliminate one of them should both get by successfully until that date but both turned to the Monday practice session buoyed by a victory wave that has swept aside all opposition.

North Carolina's Tar Heels knocked down the championship hopes of Maryland's Old Line, 33 to 0, Saturday, while Duke's Blue Devils spoiled, 38 to 12, the title hopes of Clemson's husky Tigers.

North Carolina State's Wolfpack has yet to be disposed of and may ruin the title hopes of either or both as it did to the Tar Heels a year ago but on the basis of their magnificent record Duke and North Carolina set side by side on the driver's seat.

Their place in the Southern conference parade for some time, the Blue Devils turned their attention to their neighbors in the Southeastern conference with a herculean task ahead of them. Saturday they play Georgia Tech at Atlanta and will follow with successive week-ends with games against Auburn and Tennessee.

North Carolina should find its task against Davidson not so strenuous Saturday but meetings with Georgia Tech and N. C. State on following weeks should test the Tar Heels' mettle.

N. C. State, adequate but not particularly impressive in winning its first three starts, will get its big chance against Georgia at Raleigh Saturday. State put down Wake Forest, 21 to 6, and previously had whipped Davidson and South Carolina but the Wolfpack hasn't yet faced the same type of opposition that Duke and North Carolina ran into.

Taylor Named Coach Of American Skaters

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—(AP)—William Miles Taylor of Bear Mountain, N. Y., today was named coach of the American Olympic speed skating team which will compete at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, February 1-16.

The appointment of Taylor, who prepared the 1924 and 1932 American teams, was made at a joint meeting of the Olympic skating committee and the United States Amateur Skating Union.

Henry Kemper, of St. Louis, former president of the skating union, was appointed manager of the squad.

Kemper said the team of four, or possibly five members would train at Oslo, Norway, and probably would sail from New York January 2.

Delbert Lamb and Robert Petersen, Milwaukee; Eddie Schroeder, Chicago, and Allen Potts, New York, were selected in trials last winter. Leo Freisinger, young Chicago star, who was out of action with an ankle fracture at that time, will be given an opportunity to make a place on the squad in a series of special races at Minneapolis in December. If Freisinger regains his former form, he will be added to the squad, Frank Kaltefleiter, of Chicago, chairman of the Olympic skating committee, said.

Chester Roan, Minneapolis, was elected president of the Amateur Skating Union, succeeding Kemper. Carl Raymond, Minneapolis, was appointed secretary. Other officers elected were: First vice president, Melvin W. Crawford, Detroit; second vice president, Don Strathairn, Oconomowoc, Wis., and third vice president, A. J. Hamilton, Cleveland.

Attention of All-America selectors is directed toward Jim Hutchins, above, University of North Carolina fullback, one of the best line plungers in the south. Hutchins, a junior, is only 18 years old, weighs 203 pounds and is a six-footer.

Titan of Tarheels

Major Robert Neyland, genial former University of Tennessee football coach, arriving in this country here today on a 30-day furlough from his detail as commander of the first battalion, 14th engineers, at Corozal, Canal Zone, on the steamship Contessa, said he hoped it would be possible for him to return to Tennessee as football coach after a two-year sojourn in the Canal Zone.

Over a period of nine years, Neyland established an enviable record of brilliant gridiron victories while guide of the Vols' football destinies. Reminiscing over his career at Tennessee during which he won 78 games, lost seven and tied five, Major Neyland selected an all-time, all-opponent backfield which included Abe Mickal, Louisiana State halfback, who led S. U. to victory over his Vols of 1933.

"The greatest player we ever faced was Dixie Howell, Alabama's All-American halfback of last year," he said. "In an all-time, all-opponent backfield I would pick him at one half, Mickal at the other, Billy Spears, Vanderbilt's star of 1927 at quarter, and John 'Sugar' Cain, of the Alabama 1930 team that went to the Rose Bowl, at full."

"The greatest game that was ever played by an lineman against Tennessee during the time I coached there was turned in by Freddie Crawford, of Duke, in 1933," Neyland said. "We lost that game, 10 to 3."

Neyland nominated Gene McEver, halfback of the 1928, '29 and '31 Tennessee teams, as the greatest player he ever coached. But Heatie Feathers, All-American halfback in 1933, Bobby Dodd, All-American quarterback in 1930, and Herman Hickman, American guard position in 1931, were not far behind, he said.

He rated the 1929 Tennessee team the best during his regime and the finest opposing team as Wallace Wade's 1930 Alabama eleven which went to the Rose bowl and defeated Washington State.

Major Neyland said he will attend the Tennessee-Alabama game next Saturday. "I'll be pulling for Britton and the Vols, of course," Major Neyland grinned. Major William H. Britton, his former assistant, is new head coach at Tennessee.

Rumors Say Neyland Gets Job Next Fall.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 14.—(AP) Rumors have increased rapidly in Knoxville during the past several days that Major Robert Neyland would return as head coach at the University of Tennessee next fall.

University authorities have refused to comment, other than to say "We have a coaching staff for this year." One member of the athletic council and a university trustee recently said he had received a letter from Major Neyland that he would like to return to Tennessee, and would retire from his army position to accept the head coaching job.

The trustee asked that his name not be used in connection with the story, and added "Neyland may be back, I can't say."

Shortly after Neyland asked for a leave from his army post in Panama, it was learned he would be in Knoxville this week, and that he "would be felt out" on a proposition that might bring him back to Tennessee.

Sweeping No-Risk Offer Delights Smokers of Atlanta!

THE PLAN: Roll yourself 30 swell cigarettes from Prince Albert. If you don't find them the finest, tastiest roll-your-own cigarettes you ever smoked, return the tin with the rest of the tobacco in it, and we will refund the full purchase price, plus postage.

(Signed) R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, Winston-Salem, N. C.

An open invitation has been issued to all roll-your-own smokers of this state to try Prince Albert on a remarkable you-must-be-pleased plan!

Prince Albert now comes forward with a positive no-risk offer to roll-your-own smokers. And already the word is sweeping the state that Prince Albert is "the buy" for makin'.

Why unusual offer can be made. Read the money-back offer carefully. Note that all the risk is on us. We take it, knowing that Prince Albert's quality speaks for itself.

We simply ask you to give Prince Albert a fair and square trial. Get Prince Albert at your dealer's. Roll 30 cigarettes. Note how the golden-brown tobacco nestles snugly in the paper—how it shapes up into a firm, workmanlike cigarette in a jiffy.

Importance of the "Crimp Cut" That easy-rolling feature comes from the cut. "Crimp cut," it is called. And that "crimp cut" also explains why Prince Albert is noted for the way it burns. Slow. Cool. Mild. Then, on top of superior quality, we pack Prince Albert the common-sense way—in a big 2-ounce economy tin. Hence no fuss or waste.

Your tobacco keeps in prime condition, to give a roll-your-own cigarette that is mild, mellow—yet with plenty of real man-sized good taste.

And so, if top quality in roll-your-own makin' appeals to you, just step up and ask for Prince Albert, and shake hands with smokin' at its best! And P.A.'s the real joy smoke in a pipe.

THE EASY-TO-ROLL JOY SMOKE

Neyland Would Return To Vols in Two Years

Major To See Tide-Tennessee Game; Dixie Howell Greatest Player To Oppose Coach.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Major Robert Neyland, genial former University of Tennessee football coach, arriving in this country here today on a 30-day furlough from his detail as commander of the first battalion, 14th engineers, at Corozal, Canal Zone, on the steamship Contessa, said he hoped it would be possible for him to return to Tennessee as football coach after a two-year sojourn in the Canal Zone.

Over a period of nine years, Neyland established an enviable record of brilliant gridiron victories while guide of the Vols' football destinies. Reminiscing over his career at Tennessee during which he won 78 games, lost seven and tied five, Major Neyland selected an all-time, all-opponent backfield which included Abe Mickal, Louisiana State halfback, who led S. U. to victory over his Vols of 1933.

"The greatest player we ever faced was Dixie Howell, Alabama's All-American halfback of last year," he said. "In an all-time, all-opponent backfield I would pick him at one half, Mickal at the other, Billy Spears, Vanderbilt's star of 1927 at quarter, and John 'Sugar' Cain, of the Alabama 1930 team that went to the Rose Bowl, at full."

"The greatest game that was ever played by an lineman against Tennessee during the time I coached there was turned in by Freddie Crawford, of Duke, in 1933," Neyland said. "We lost that game, 10 to 3."

Neyland nominated Gene McEver, halfback of the 1928, '29 and '31 Tennessee teams, as the greatest player he ever coached. But Heatie Feathers, All-American halfback in 1933, Bobby Dodd, All-American quarterback in 1930, and Herman Hickman, American guard position in 1931, were not far behind, he said.

He rated the 1929 Tennessee team the best during his regime and the finest opposing team as Wallace Wade's 1930 Alabama eleven which went to the Rose bowl and defeated Washington State.

Major Neyland said he will attend the Tennessee-Alabama game next Saturday. "I'll be pulling for Britton and the Vols, of course," Major Neyland grinned. Major William H. Britton, his former assistant, is new head coach at Tennessee.

Rumors Say Neyland Gets Job Next Fall.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 14.—(AP) Rumors have increased rapidly in Knoxville during the past several days that Major Robert Neyland would return as head coach at the University of Tennessee next fall.

University authorities have refused to comment, other than to say "We have a coaching staff for this year." One member of the athletic council and a university trustee recently said he had received a letter from Major Neyland that he would like to return to Tennessee, and would retire from his army position to accept the head coaching job.

The trustee asked that his name not be used in connection with the story, and added "Neyland may be back, I can't say."

Shortly after Neyland asked for a leave from his army post in Panama, it was learned he would be in Knoxville this week, and that he "would be felt out" on a proposition that might bring him back to Tennessee.

LEDUC PROMOTED.

MONTREAL, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Albert (Battleship) Leduc, playing manager with the Quebec Beavers of the Canadian-American Hockey league, will manage the Providence Reds in the same loop next season. Leduc formerly played with the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League.

DICK DAVIS COURT TO FACE SPEER AT AUDITORIUM

Chewachi and Strongberg Clash in Semi-Windup Tonight.

Tonight is the night that Frank Speer has set aside to even an old score in this game of wrestling.

Tech's former great tackle, meeting Rough Richard Daviscourt in the feature match at the city auditorium, has set his sights for the resourceful veteran.

As promising as this match is, the semi-windup which brings together Chief Chewachi and Rudy Strongberg, the big German, is of equal promise.

The fans are indeed fortunate in being able to see both Daviscourt and Chewachi on the same wrestling program together.

For the two of them form one of the trickiest teams in the game. They would provide great entertainment if it so happened they were meeting each other. But as it is the fans are going to see plenty when Daviscourt goes to work on Speer with his smashing forearm and Chewachi tries some of his tricks on Strongberg.

'UNCLE BILLY' LOTZ, 72, SPORTSMAN, IS DEAD

Atlanta, Nationally Known in Sport Circles, Was Once Dresser's Manager

William "Uncle Billy" Lotz, veteran sportsman and nationally known Atlanta "character," died yesterday morning at the age of 72. His career was as varied as it was unique. He had run the entire gamut of showmanship and sports activities and promotion.

Only last year Uncle Billy carried away the first prize from younger men in three straight trotting races at Lakewood park. He had operated a cafe for the last 10 years at the National Stockyards here.

In the '50s on Vine street, the center of the "American Rhine," he was known as the man of a thousand faces. It was through his ability to make faces that he became identified with the theatrical profession, first in burlesque, when it was an honored part of family life, then in music halls and theaters.

For a time he was manager of Marie Dressler and he aided Charles K. Harris, the song writer, in starting in the music world. He then went into the fight game, managing several boxers.

But his first and last love was horsemanship. He entered the harness horse racing in his early twenties as a trainer and driver and for many years was one of the best known drivers on the midwestern tracks. He also drove his own horses in the Grand Circuit races.

Uncle Billy is survived by his wife, a granddaughter, Mrs. Rosemary Endicott; a grandson, Jerry Endicott; a niece, Mrs. F. Telle, of Staten Island, N. Y.; a nephew, Harry Lotz, of New York, and two other nephews, R. C. and L. J. Endicott, of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son with the Rev. H. A. DeWald officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

BURNS FROM GASOLINE PUT MAN IN HOSPITAL

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 14.—D. R. Dean, 25, of Statham, continued in a serious condition at a local hospital today from burns received while pouring gasoline into the tank of his car late Saturday. The car backed fire and the flame ignited the gas, burning Mr. Dean severely.

He is not expected to survive the injuries.

REAL ESTATE AGENT OF C. & O. SUCCUMBS

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 14.—(P)—Roland P. Eubank, of Huntington, W. Va., general real estate agent for the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, dropped dead on a Richmond street early this afternoon.

Roosevelt Committee Meets To Plan Arrangements

General and special committee chairmen mapping the Roosevelt homecoming celebration are shown above as they held their first meeting last night with General Chairman Erle Coker, of Atlanta, at the Roosevelt headquarters in the 101 building. Important phases of the celebration were discussed at the session. Chairman Coker is to hold a series of individual conferences with the group chairmen today. Staff photo by Turner Hiers.

Chairmen of Special Committees Map Roosevelt Homecoming Fete

Leaders Discuss Program at Headquarters Conference With General Chairman Erle Coker; Finance Committee To Collect Needed Funds.

Plans for the Roosevelt homecoming celebration were discussed yesterday by the chairmen of general and special committees who are co-operating with the Georgia delegation in congress in mapping the President's reception. The conference, which was held at Roosevelt headquarters in the 101 building, was presided over by Erle Coker, general chairman.

"The entire program was discussed with the chairmen of the various committees and their duties were outlined," Mr. Coker said after the meeting.

The general chairman said the finance committee, headed by A. Steve Nance, of Atlanta, would be the first to go to work, adding that the others would be swung into action as they are needed.

"It is well known we must have some money to put over such a celebration as this is going to be," Mr. Coker said. "We have received assurance from Mr. Nance and members of his committee they will get what is needed."

Uses for Funds.

The funds obtained by the committee will go toward constructing the speaker's platform and a stage for distinguished guests at Grant field, where the President will speak. Thanks-giving week, and for other things incident to the celebration.

The committee chairmen, who were announced Saturday by Mr. Coker, began their work yesterday.

Miss Martha Berry, of Rome, chairman of the women's distinguished hosts committee, occupied a desk in headquarters and began her work.

"I am very happy to be associated in the Roosevelt welcome," Miss Berry said. "Georgia is going to do herself proud when the President speaks here next month."

Judge Frank A. Hooper Jr. and Colonel Fonville McWhorter, executive assistants to Chairman Coker, also were on the job yesterday.

Carolarians Coming.

Georgia will not be alone in welcoming the President it was revealed when Thomas J. Hamilton, editor of the Augusta Chronicle, made public a letter he received from Mayor L. S. Owens, of Columbia, S. C., in which Mayor Owens said hundreds of South Carolina citizens would be in Atlanta for the homecoming and asked that a section of Grant field be set aside for them. Mr. Hamilton forwarded the letter to Mr. Coker.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Will Visit Mr. and Mrs. Snow on October 25

By Sally Forth.

WHENEVER Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Johnson come to Atlanta they provide inspiration for lots of social affairs. They arrive here from Birmingham on October 25 to visit Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Snow at Snowhaven, their Valley road residence, the handsome white clapboard structure, offset with green blinds, into which the Snows recently moved. Mrs. Snow is the former Elizabeth Pinder, of Birmingham, an attractive member of the younger married set of society.

Informal parties planned in honor of Mary Stuart and Crawford Johnson will assemble their intimate friends made upon former visits to Atlanta. Dr. and Mrs. William Campbell's tea on October 25 and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Jones' party that same evening will have the Alabama visitors as honor guests.

The Georgia-Alabama football game to be played on Sanford field at Athens on October 26 will provide a Mecca for Mr. and Mrs. Snow and their guests. They will return to Atlanta after the game in time for the dinner party planned by Mr. and Mrs. Snow on Saturday evening as a complimentary gesture to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Black give a breakfast at their Roxboro road home on October 27 for Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, and the aperitif party given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox Jr. on Sunday afternoon will be a complimentary gesture to the Birmingham visitors.

SOCIETY is always interested in her arrivals and departures, for the one of its favorite and most attractive members. But not often is that interest indulged, for she is very secretive about her plans and peregrinations, and she spends so little of her time here that she has often come and gone away again before many of her friends and admirers, who are legion, are aware of her charming presence.

Some time ago there was a rumor of an engagement—a very persistent rumor. But the Atlanta belle and the good-looking Washingtonian denied it vehemently, despite the fact that one publication gave it space.

Now there is another rumor which links her aristocratic name with that of a prominent New Yorker. Just what is back of the rumor Sally does not even hazard a guess. But she hears that the belle's week-end visit to a neighboring city effected a meeting between the two. Was the foreign miss en scene chosen just to throw Atlanta friends off the track?

BLACK SPIKED WITH COLOUR

Rich's follows through. Enthusiastically, because to our mind there's nothing better than Black to express irreproachable good taste. And "Spiking" it thus makes for costumes of telling individuality, fine imagination, and, incidentally, of immense flattery. Its possibilities are limitless.

The dressy swagger, all black, is imported hairy woolen with Persian used as an integral part of the coat—ultra-new 277.50

The Milgrim dress beneath the swagger spikes the costume—raspberry red crepe; the new V-neck that fits close at neck, with brilliant leaf-clips 49.95

CARD READING.

Ability to reconstruct the opponents' unseen hands from the fall of the cards or from the inference in bidding is the supreme test and thrill of a masterful player. The difficult art of card reading calls for the inductive power of a Sherlock Holmes, the science of a mathematician, and the patience of a spider. If most squeezes, or other end plays, are then unattainable for a fairly good player, it is because he has not yet learned how to lay the proper foundation for such plays by placing in opponents' hands the precise suit lengths and key cards. He must learn how to read through the back of the cards.

East is declarer at a contract of six clubs. The opening lead is the spade ace, followed by a second spade, which is won in dummy (spade king). In addition to the trick already lost, it appears that East has a sure heart loser. Apparently the only way to win is by taking the diamond finesse (diamond jack), but the declarer decides to try a few rounds of other suits to get some clue to distribution. East, therefore, enters his hand with the club king and ruffs the third spade in dummy with the club queen, whereupon North discards a heart. It is now clear that South held originally, six spades. A second round of trumps is played and both North and South follow. Of South's thirteen cards eight now are located, and the picture has changed! The attractiveness of the diamond finesse has vanished since it is not probable that four of South's five remaining cards are diamonds, and thus it is probable that North, holding the larger number of diamonds, has the queen. If South has three diamonds and two hearts a sure squeeze will develop, but if he has two diamonds (without the queen) no play will win. If he has three diamonds to the queen, the queen will drop when declarer ruffs the third round of diamonds. Even if South has four diamonds, one of North's three might be the diamond queen, ruffed in declarer's hands. The queen, if not lost, and East must pass his stock trump, so that the situation at the end of the ninth trick is as follows:

Lillian Mae Patterns

RUFFLING TOPS A GAY MADE-AT-HOME STAY-AT-HOME FROCK.

A bit of ruffling, and a card or so of bright but inexpensive buttons are all the trim that's needed by this charming house dress. It's an easy pattern for home-sewing too, and one you'll want to repeat in different fabrics. Don't you like the way the sleeves go into a slight puff at the shoulders—the ruffles gently perk up the bodice and extend across the back. You'll find a collarless neckline not only easy to make, but becoming, and no trouble to iron. Choose a few yards of bright, flowered percale, colorful plain or printed broadcloth, and the brightest buttons you can find.

Pattern 2504 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 takes 3-2 yards 36-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send fifteen cents (15c) for this Lillian Mae pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. Be sure to state size.

SEN. GEORGE TO SPEAK TO YOUNG FARM GROUP

MAKON, Ga., Oct. 14.—(AP)—Senator George will be the principal speaker here Friday at the seventh annual convention of the Georgia Association of Young Farmers of America, it was announced today.

The convention will bring to Makon between 1,500 and 2,000 boys from all parts of the state for three days of varied activity, including a major part in the program of the Georgia State Fair.

It will begin Thursday, one of the biggest days at the fair, and will continue through Saturday.

THREE PERSONS HURT IN VILLA RICA CRASH

VILLA RICA, Oct. 14.—Miss Christine Harris, of Bremen, received a broken leg and other injuries, and Miss Winkle, of Pelham, received a broken leg and a badly lacerated face here when the car in which they were riding left the Bankhead highway and hit a telephone pole.

Robert Bonner, another occupant of the car, was painfully injured, while Fred Archer was unhurt.

The wreck occurred at the city limits of Villa Rica. The car was completely demolished.

VETERAN BIBB OFFICER DIES AT MAKON HOTEL

MAKON, Ga., Oct. 14.—(UP)—Fillmore B. Lane, a Bibb county deputy sheriff for more than 25 years, died here late yesterday after a prolonged illness.

Lane was perhaps one of the best known peace officers in this section. It was said that in his quarter of a century of service he seldom carried a gun.

A bachelor, Lane died in the Broadway hotel, where he was born 61 years ago.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.
Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence, if possible, should be in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

Is it true that love can die? Is it possible that you can ever come to hate a man that you love better than your own life? My fiancé is a queer person. He is always saying to me "I hope you will never come to hate me." It chills me to the bone every time he says it and when I tell him that no matter what happens I could never cease to love him he looks sad and says, "I hope that is true." What could make a man say such a thing to the girl he expects to marry?

HELEN.

Answer: Your fiancé may be a melancholic man. He may be harboring some secret that he is afraid to tell you. He may be living in dread of your finding out something about him that will destroy your confidence in him. It is possible that he is suffering love-sickness which has a thousand symptoms. Trembling, fear of loss is one of them. Josephine Johnson says that fear increases with love in arithmetical progression. This is true: the more we love the more we fear. Women have loved men in spite of the fact that they have been proven criminals. Women have ceased to love men whose characters were above reproach. Women have loved men in spite of the fact that they have been proven criminals. Women have ceased to love men whose characters were above reproach. Women have loved men in spite of the fact that they have been proven criminals. Women have ceased to love men whose characters were above reproach.

Yes, love can die. It is a delicate emotion yet tenacious of life. It can be tortured to death and it can be starved to death. Nobody has ever discovered how it comes or how it goes. Women have loved men in spite of the fact that they have been proven criminals. Women have ceased to love men whose characters were above reproach. Women have loved men in spite of the fact that they have been proven criminals. Women have ceased to love men whose characters were above reproach.

Marriage is something more than the sort of life that two young people experience in the days of their courtship. It is partnership in friendship, in work and in play, when they cultivate common interests, make a determined effort to please one another, create a wholesome atmosphere in their home, have children and accept their responsibilities in rearing those children, there is not much danger of love's dying. Every day a new bond is woven together and their romantic love "suffers sea-change into something rich and strange."

The divine emotion, love, is nourished or starved by every earthly thing that enters into daily life; from the temperature of the breakfast coffee to the goodness of the nightgown. Living within the income and being contented with what it provides, the common courtesies that husband and wife show each other, the catering to tastes in food and physical comfort, the little pleasurable surprises that break the monotony of the friendly grind, the little things each assumes forward the other's friends and family, the compliments that are paid, the approval that is felt and expressed one for the other, these are some of the things that nourish love in marriage. One seldom comes to hate another who is thoughtful and courteous, and considerate of his or her needs, who is kind and loving and dutiful to each other, when they work together, make sacrifices and try to please each other.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

EDUCATIONAL EXHIBIT TO FEATURE FESTIVAL

WAYCROSS, Ga., Oct. 14.—There will be a number of educational exhibits showing the conservation and utilization of forest products at the Slash Pine Forest festival which will be held in Waycross during the week of November 11, it is announced by J. S. Elkins, secretary of the association, sponsoring the show.

The Hercules Powder Company, operating a large plant in Brunswick, where pine stumps are converted into valuable products, after being salvaged from the cut-over lands of south Georgia, will have an interesting exhibit showing the work of the company in the woods of that company, it is assured by A. S. Kloss, manager of the Brunswick plant.

ATLANTAN MUST PAY COCA-COLA DEAL TAX

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—Everett A. Banker, of Atlanta, Ga., today lost in the supreme court his fight against $27,796 taxes ordered by federal collectors on his exchange in 1930 of Coca-Cola International Corporation.

The court refused to review the fifth federal circuit court of appeals judgment that he gained by the exchange of Coca-Cola International Corporation for that of Coca-Cola International Corporation.

Banker contended the stock exchange was a mere reorganization and that the exchange was not a sale and after was "essentially the same."

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR MRS. ROY REPASS

Funeral services for Mrs. Roy B. Repass, well-known Atlanta woman, who died Sunday in Makon, were held at Marion yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Repass, who has been a resident of Atlanta for the past ten years, was stricken ill suddenly while visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Anderson, of Marion. An operation failed to save her life.

She was a member of the Lutheran church, where she took an active part in church and Sunday school work. She was also an active member of the Parent-Teacher Association here.

H. C. HILL, 81, DIES AT HOME IN AUSTELL

H. C. Hill, 81, a native Georgian and retired railroad man, died yesterday morning at his home in Austell.

He had been in the employ of the Georgia and Southern railroads for 60 years. He was a member of the Methodist church at Austell, where he had lived for the last 30 years.

He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Adeline Hill, who died Friday after a long illness at the home of her son, E. T. Hill, in Marietta, Ga.

Funeral services will be held at the home of Mrs. Hill, 1000 N. W. 10th St., at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

THIEF GIVEN MAILBOX TO RETURN PAPERS

W. N. Jones, a salesman of the Shell Oil Company, being an optimist, has rented Post Office Box No. 943, Atlanta.

Jones was in a filling station at Delta and Fair streets yesterday when a person removed his brief case from his car and made off with it.

"He can have the case and welcome to it if he'll only send back to me my check stubs and accounts," said Jones. "If I don't get back those check stubs, I won't be able to get my expense money from the company and if I don't, get back my records, I'm in a mess."

STATE SCHOOL DEMAND GROWS, SAYS SANFORD

District Meeting on Education Held at Milledgeville.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Oct. 14.—(AP)—Superintendent L. D. Sanford, of the University System of Georgia, told a conference of sixth district educators here today there was an increasing demand for a state-wide system of education, with the state providing educational needs of each community.

There has been agitation in Georgia for some years, he said, for such a system, which would relieve the local community of the task of managing and financing its schools, and put this in the hands of the state, with a uniform system, and uniform educational opportunity as the ideal.

The chancellor said, however, that the general property tax had become inadequate in Georgia to support a modern educational system.

M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, and B. M. Grier, superintendent of schools at Athens, were among other speakers in the session.

Various problems, including that of school support, were discussed by various speakers.

Today's gathering, which was held at the Georgia State College for Women, was the first of a series of district meetings held by the Georgia Education Association.

A similar meeting will be held tomorrow at Thomson, and another at Clarksville on Thursday. Some of those who spoke here today will be on the program at the Thomson and Clarksville meetings.

Kyle Alfriend, secretary of the Georgia Education Association; Jere Wells, Fulton county school superintendent; Superintendent L. D. Sanford, of Milledgeville; Superintendent J. E. Owen, of Morgan county; Chancellor Sanford, Superintendent Collins, and Dr. Guy Wells, president of Georgia State College for Women, will be among speakers at Thomson tomorrow.

In the afternoon the Tenth District High School Association, of which Superintendent Hancock is president, will meet at Thomson.

BREMEN DAMAGE SUIT GOES TO HIGH COURT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—The Southern Railway Company may now bring a new lawsuit for $5,000 awarded by a Harlan county, Georgia, jury for death of her father, J. M. Cox, on February 14, 1934, after the jury found the company liable for the death of the Georgia court of appeals May 29, 1935, which approved the jury verdict.

Cox, 39, an engineer of a passenger train between Birmingham and Atlanta, was killed when his locomotive was derailed near Bremen, Ga., and his body was thrown from the train.

The railroad claimed the Georgia court in finding a special appellate apparatus known as the "little of the railroad," the court found the engineer's death. It alleged a rock placed on the track by a nine-year-old negro boy, Charley Lee Lowe, derailed the front wheels of the locomotive and caused the engine to overturn.

The Georgia supreme court refused to review the case. The daughter sued for $50,000.

ATLANTA-TO-MAKON SHORT ROAD URGED

Improvement of Highway South of Jackson Is Requested.

JACKSON, Ga., Oct. 14.—At a meeting attended by representatives of Monroe, Butts and Henry counties, in Jackson today, called in the interest of the Atlanta-Macon short road, a resolution was adopted asking the State Highway Department to put this road on the state-aid system and begin work on it immediately.

Oberlin M. Carter Promised Court Hearing

Relating an American version of a "Dreyfus" case before United States Senator Ryan Duffy, right, in Chicago, Oberlin Carter, 79, left, seized the first opportunity given him in 37 years to present officially his charge that he was railroaded out of a promising army career by a corrupt court-martial. Seeking vindication of his soldier's honor, Carter charged the military conviction of illegally stripping him of the construction funds for improving the harbor at Savannah in 1898 was engineered by powerful politicians of the time. He intimated that the old "Ohio clique" led by Mark Hanna, overcame President McKinley's reluctance to approve the court-martial findings by asserting to him: "If you don't drop Carter you lose Ohio, and Admiral Dewey will be the next President." Since 1898 Carter has sought review of his court-martial. The senate subcommittee group, headed by Senator Duffy, of Wisconsin, was instructed to hear the story by virtue of a resolution introduced last session by Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois.

Views on Liquor Drinking Question Given by Georgia College Freshmen

Parents Cannot Drink and Then Demand Abstinence of Children, One G. S. C. W. Student Averred During Forum on Subject.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Oct. 14.—(AP)—Parents can't take a cocktail party and then demand that their children with any expectation of obedience, a freshman at the Georgia State College for Women averred during a forum on the liquor drinking question.

Viewpoints of 40 freshmen on "Immoderate Drinking Among High School Boys and Girls of Georgia," were compiled and presented to the practice school P. T. A. by Miss Louise Smith, of the college health department.

"Because it's the smart thing to do" was one of the answers to the query on why high school students drank immoderately, or at all. Others were:

"Because they call you a poor sport if you don't," and "because it gives a shy boy or girl self-confidence."

LAKE PARK HATCHERY MAY GET WPA FUNDS

New Application Is Filed With Washington Office for Grant.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(AP)—A new application by the Bureau of Fisheries was on file with the Works Progress Administration today, requesting $17,500 to improve the hatchery at Lake Park, near Valdosta, Ga.

The new filing revealed that the request had been turned down, due to unavailability of labor near the hatchery.

Numerous other fishery projects were rejected for the same reason, including proposed improvements at the Warm Springs hatchery, Lake Park, however, was among the nine throughout the country for which the request was renewed.

"I believe," said F. T. Bell, fisheries commissioner, "that several of the different projects covered by these requests (turned down) are so worthy that extra funds made to secure reconsideration for a part of them."

Bell's statement was contained in a letter to Secretary of Commerce Roosevelt.

Of Lake Park he said:

"At this point the main obstacle to a more extensive production of fish has been the uncertainty of the water supply which is insufficient during dry seasons. The water supply has been secured, a dam has been constructed for impounding it; utilizing relief labor, but the bureau has as yet been unable to take advantage of this supply, due to lack of funds for a pipe line installation to convey it to the hatching and rearing ponds."

By an allotment of funds sufficient to purchase the necessary pipe and furnish the labor for its installation, ditching, back-filling and certain other improvements, this hatchery would be independent of weather conditions and a large output of fish would be assured.

No additional ponds would be required, a limited amount of work would be performed on the existing pond system to improve its efficiency. One additional dwelling would be constructed for the hatchery, which has been on the premises. It is highly desirable to take full advantage of the developments which have been accomplished during the last three years."

FALL GARDEN
NOTES by
Fletcher Pearson Greene.

I want to tell you more about roses. Long, narrow beds can usually be fitted into your garden design in a pleasing way. I suggest 1 set of beds that is no less than five feet. This width gives you room for three rows of bushes. The outside rows 12 inches from each edge and the center row 12 inches from the outside rows. You can then plant four rows of roses. One can't plant close and outer rows. After taking off your beds you come to an important part of your work. Preparation of the soil. And in doing this drainage is your first consideration. If drainage is poor in your garden dig your bed out 20 inches deep and put in 12 inches of rock, clinkers, old shoes, anything (not wood) to give drainage for the water to seep

Then fill in with the soil removed and discard that dug from the bottom 12 inches. Put the top 12 inches back into the bed first, with many generous sprinkles of bone meal. General quantities of well-rotted cow manure will also be most helpful for blossoms next spring. Continue to fill the bed until it is not more than one inch above the level of the walk. For even though roses like drainage they also like much moisture and these beds will settle just a little lower than the

high for 1935 in the industrial section and a modest recovery in railroad issues gave the stock market a bright look today.

The Associated Press industrial average closed 0.9 of a point higher at 69.5, a new high for the year, while the average of 60 stocks rose up 0.6
of a point to 50.1. A total of 1,597,000 shares changed hands compared with
2,074,862 on Friday.

Brokers said the generally favorable tone of business news stimulated the demand for industrials. Rail shares perked up, after early ease owing to the indications of higher loadings contained in early reports.

Chrysler was heavily bought and jumped up 3 7/8 to close at $1 3/4, a new high since 1929. General Motors ran up 1 1/2 to close at a new recovery of 48 5/8. In the background of this buying was a report of automobile production at 21,643 last week compared with 20,401 the previous week and 25,401 a year ago.

Coca-Cola Hits New High.

Other issues which turned new highs for the year or longer with gains of fractions to 3 or more points included:
Coca-Cola at 25 1/2, Deere at 44 5/8,
Gibbs at 6 1/2, Libby-Owens Glass
at 41 1/4, Link Belt at 40, Loew's at 46 1/4, Macy at 52, Mengel at 6 1/4,
National Cash Register at 51 1/2,
Thompson Products at 12 1/2, U. S.
Gypsum at 76, Wesson Oil at 46 1/2,
Western Union at 54 and Westinghouse at 84 7/8.

Radio preferred "B" rounded ahead
7 1/4 to 79 3/4, a new high, and
R-K-O went up 1 3/8 at a new top of 5 7/8. Buying of both stocks was attributed in Wall Street to the recently announced purchase of a substantial part of Radio Corporation's holdings
in R-K-O by Atlas Corporation.

Encouraging news from the industrial front was the American Iron and Steel Institute's estimate of production this week at 50.4 per cent of capacity compared with 49.7 a week ago and 22.8 per cent a year ago.

Future Brighter.

Recovery hopes were given a smart boost by the report of F. W. Dodge Corporation, which showed residential construction contracts for September at $41,500,000 in 37 states compared with $40,525,000 in August and $17, 853,600 in September a year ago. The nine-month volume was about 80 per cent above the level of last year.

In the foreign exchange market, the pound sterling was down 1/8 of a cent at $4.90 1/4. French francs were unchanged at 5.59 francs. The Italian lira was .01 of a cent higher at 8.12 cents.

By FRANK MACMILLAN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(P)—New
high for 1935 in the industrial section and a modest recovery in railroad issues gave the stock market a bright look today.

The Associated Press industrial average closed 0.9 of a point higher at 69.5, a new high for the year, while the average of 60 stocks rose up 0.6
of a point to 50.1. A total of 1,597,000 shares changed hands compared with
2,074,862 on Friday.

Brokers said the generally favorable tone of business news stimulated the demand for industrials. Rail shares
perked up, after early ease owing to the indications of higher loadings contained in early reports.

Chrysler was heavily bought and jumped up 3 7/8 to close at $1 3/4, a new high since 1929. General Motors ran up 1 1/2 to close at a new recovery of 48 5/8. In the background of this buying was a report of automobile production at 21,643 last week compared with 20,401
the previous week and 25,401 a year ago.

Coca-Cola Hits New High.

Other issues which turned new highs for the year or longer with gains of fractions to 3 or more points included:
Coca-Cola at 25 1/2, Deere at 44 5/8,
Gibbs at 6 1/2, Libby-Owens Glass
at 41 1/4, Link Belt at 40, Loew's at
46 1/4, Macy at 52, Mengel at 6 1/4,
National Cash Register at 51 1/2,
Thompson Products at 12 1/2, U. S.
Gypsum at 76, Wesson Oil at 46 1/2,
Western Union at 54 and Westing-
house at 84 7/8.

Radio preferred "B" rounded ahead
7 1/4 to 79 3/4, a new high, and
R-K-O went up 1 3/8 at a new top of 5 7/8. Buying of both stocks was attributed in Wall Street to the recently announced purchase of a substantial part of Radio Corporation's holdings
in R-K-O by Atlas Corporation.

Encouraging news from the industrial front was the American Iron and Steel Institute's estimate of production this week at 50.4 per cent of capacity compared with 49.7 a week ago and 22.8 per cent a year ago.

Future Brighter.

Recovery hopes were given a smart boost by the report of F. W. Dodge Corporation, which showed residential construction contracts for September at $41,500,000 in 37 states compared with $40,525,000 in August and $17, 853,600 in September a year ago. The nine-month volume was about 80 per cent above the level of last year.

In the foreign exchange market, the pound sterling was down 1/8 of a cent
at $4.90 1/4. French francs were unchanged at 5.59 francs. The Italian lira was .01 of a cent higher at 8.12 cents.

Market Outlook

Chrysler Corporation shot up 37-points to 813-4, a new high since 1929. That was 164 per cent over the year's low of 31 and General Motors gained 11.8 points to close at 48 5/8. On the basis of its 53,500,000 shares outstanding that represented a dollar advance of $48,937,500. The stock has risen 22 points from its year's low or $957,000,000. The gain from the depression low of 41 points amounts to $1,783,500,000 on the basis of shares listed. Other automobile shares made more modest gains today. All of them were bought.

Better demand for steel from automobile makers this week sent the steel operating rate at Youngstown, Ohio up 3 points to 59 per cent of capacity and helped lift the rate for the nation up nearly a point. Another factor in steel operations was a pick-up in building demand. Heavy construction still is small, but residential construction, which uses some steel, continued to mount. In September, F. W.

Dodge Corporation, experts on building statistics, reported the residential contract total for 37 states at $41,810,800, against $17,853,600 in September, 1934. For the first nine months there was a gain of 80 per cent over 1934.

Rails were depressed for a time today but they recovered from the lows and the averages ended at a small advance. Union Pacific, weak spot, closed with a 1-point loss. However, Atchison, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway and New York Central were fractionally higher.

Most other stocks closed higher.

Gains ranged to 4-8 points, the latter in Westinghouse Electric which made a new high for the year. General Electric also made anew 1935 top. Altogether 72 issues made new highs for the year, while three made new lows. Gains were noted in 421 issues, losses in 197, while 170 closed at last Friday's levels.

Brokers' Views

STOCK OPINIONS.

BEER & CO.—The current strength of the Industrials should spread to the utilities some time during the next few days.

FENNER & BEANE—Greater validity will be attached to the upward movement by better action on the part of rails and utilities. The latter group particularly appears to merit more favorable consideration.

DOBBS & CO.—From a technical point of view a further advance would be in order even if rails and utilities should be sluggish in following.

COURTS & CO.—The market seems very much inclined to advance and would respond quickly to any really goods news.

COTTON OPINIONS.

BEER & CO.—With current developments

COURTS & CO.—We would suggest purchases whenever quick breaks occur as the heavy crop movement should now begin to taper off.

FENNER & SEANE—We believe the tendency of the market is to do better and that prices will rise once the peak of the movement has been passed. This may not be far off.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO. TO DOBES & CO.—Aside from hedging and trade buying business was comparatively quiet again Monday. No doubt there is a disposition in some traders to await further developments abroad while some traders are waiting to see whether the market will become more readily responsive to bullish features once the movement begins to fall off. January Liverpool 5.63.

GRAIN OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—W would not advocate purchases of wheat despite the fact that a technical rally should follow a week of declining prices.

FENNER & BEANE.—The market has been a substantial reaction and we think we are getting back to a level where buying will be more aggressive.

BEES & CO.—Nothing has changed as far as wheat is concerned. The break-off in the opportunity to start accumulation and to add to existing lines.

THE TARZAN TWINS No. 38

To drive the savage chant of their captors from their minds, Dick and Doc returned to the study of the native language under Bulala's instruction. And now the other prisoner, the shy pygmy, became interested in the experiment and crept out of his dark corner.

TWO LABOR FACTIONS AGREE TO PEACE MOVE

3 Members From Each Side,
With Neutral Chairman,
To Decide Issue.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 14. (AP)—After a year of bitter factional strife, two rival groups of American Federation of Labor building trades unions shook hands and made peace tonight.

They agreed to refer their issues to a board of three members from each side, with a neutral chairman. This board is to work out a plan for reorganization of the federation's building trades department, to be submitted to a new department convention for approval.

The end of one of the federation's two big family feuds—for the time being at least—pushed the convention spotlight to the other, the scrap between craft and industrial unions.

By a one vote margin the craft unionists took round one in that battle over how workers in mass production industries should be organized.

Before the test on the organization issue the convention had voted unanimously for a renewed fight for the 30-hour working week.

It was the federation convention's resolutions committee which voted, 8-6, and of highway engineer-economists, various grades, $2,600 to $4,000 a year. Full information may be obtained from the district manager of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners in the postoffice building.

Atlanta's expected to attend the annual convention of the Southern Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, to be held at the Miami Biltmore hotel in Coral Gables, Fla., November 12 through 15, are W. R. Thomas, Robert Parr, Hugh Kitchen, Ray Jennings, J. J. Harvey and N. W. Betts, it was announced yesterday.

Revival services are being held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Western Heights Baptist church. The Rev. Bill Allison is preaching, and Ray Barker is leading the singing.

Kiwanis Club will hold its weekly luncheon at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon in the civic room of the Ansley hotel, it was announced yesterday. Dr. Walter W. Young, psychiatrist, will ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 14. (AP)—After a year of bitter factional strife, two rival groups of American Federation of Labor building trades unions shook hands and made peace tonight.

They agreed to refer their issues to a board of three members from each side, with a neutral chairman. This board is to work out a plan for reorganization of the federation's building trades department, to be submitted to a new department convention for approval.

The end of one of the federation's two big family feuds—for the time being at least—pushed the convention spotlight to the other, the scrap between craft and industrial unions.

South Side Civic Federation Votes To Invite President
While Here.

A special invitation will be extended to President Roosevelt by the South Side Civic Federation to view the cyclorama in Grant park when the President comes here during the Thanksgiving holidays, it was decided last night at the meeting of the federation held in the auditorium of Commercial High school.

"Many visitors who have seen the world famous cycloramas at Gettysburg and at Athens, Greece, have expressed the belief that the Grant park cyclorama is the greatest," W. T. Harrison, president of the federation, said last night. "We feel that the President would be interested in inspecting this historic memorial."

A resolution praising the work of the Safety Council of the Constitution for its campaign to reduce the hazards of traffic by safe driving was adopted by a unanimous vote of the assembly and officers expressed the hope that an appreciable lessening of traffic toll would result.

FLORIDA NEARS VOTE ON SHIP CANAL BONDS

OCALA, Fla., Oct. 14. (AP)—C. E. Hood, assistant supervisor of registration, said tonight all freeholders of the Dunnellon precinct have qualified to vote in the canal right-of-way bond election October 22.

Dunnellon, near the western terminus of the proposed route of the trans-Florida canal, has not begun to feel construction activities directly, although many of the community's unemployed have been given jobs at Camp Roosevelt headquarters.

At Jacksonville it was announced all affiliated merchants will close their doors for two hours in the afternoon to get out the vote.

There are scientific findings back of S.S.S. effectiveness. If you have a lagging appetite... a general run-down feeling... a don't-care, tired attitude toward people and things... look to your blood cells. Why? Because they carry the very oxygen you breathe to the tissues... making use of food factors for the production of energy... tissue repair... body tone... muscular and mental freshness.

S.S.S. starts the gastric juices in the stomach and provides, too, the minerals the body requires in rebuilding those red cells... that work, worry, and the way we live, have broken down.

It is interesting to know that the blood makes a complete circuit of the body about 200 times daily. The strength of the blood depends upon its tiny cells and their hemoglobin content. If you suspect a lowered blood count, which is a common cause of paleness, loss of strength and vitality, do give S.S.S. a trial. At all drug stores.
